Victòria Vilalta

Catalan singer-songwriter and producer who creates self-written and self-produced tracks spanning the indie, folk and experimental genres. Her music has a raw and natural character as well as a fresh sound design that supports the message of the lyrics. Each of her songs conveys a feeling, emotion, idea or values. She understands music as emotion and aims to have a positive impact on the listeners with her work. Currently based in London, where she completed her music formation and produced her new work, she is performing regularly and releasing her debut LP by singles in 2025.
