COMPANY HISTORY

NTXP LLC was founded by Alison Hopkins, envisioning a successful general contracting business in the vein of her and her husbands hard working fathers, but with a. Woman's mind to guide it. The company's foundation was laid in August 2021. A significant achievement as a woman-owned business was the Texas HUB certification on July 28, 2023, valid until July 28, 2027 (Certificate/VID # 1834540867000). Alison is the first high school graduate and first woman business owner in her family many generations back, and she takes pride in representing women's voices and equity in the construction industry.

Trevor brings comprehensive experience in the JOC industry and has held a position of leadership in the Texas region for several years having served as director of one of the top three job order contracting GC and lead several teams to success. Trevor is also the outgoing president of the Center For JOC Excellence and has a particular specialization in medical work having ground VA facilities in the federal space and having worked at the Dallas Medical District throughout his entire career.

Alison and Trevor grew up in the local DFW community surrounded by builders and makers and craftsman, and Alison's diligence and detail oriented business mindset learned through many years in the legal industry ended up being a perfect counter to Trevor's strong minded operational and technical experience.

NTXP LLC presents public entities in Texas with a reliable partner both in construction ability and in meeting their diversity goals in meaningful ways. Alison pioneered a novel approach where she built a network of contractors focused almost entirely on HUB and MBE / MWBE so as to develop a reputation of always meeting the customers expectations on engagement, and use her accreditations and Trevor's role in the Center for JOC Excellence to teach subcontractors and schools how to work together and let everyone do what they do best, turning diversity from a stressor to an asset.
