LETTER FROM THE CEO

When we started in 2017, I did not think an organization in South Dakota who provides immigration advocacy, education, civic engagement, rapid response and legal services would survive in our state's anti-immigrant political climate. Seven years later, SD Voices for Peace is flourishing because of local, regional, and national supporters like you. Thank you.

Our work is driven by each staff and board member's passion to lift our communities' voices and build power. We share our own stories amongst staff strategy sessions, as many of us are immigrants or first-generation Americans and all of us are allies to the communities we lift. Through sharing our stories, we asked ourselves a question – instead of talking about discrimination and anti-immigrant sentiments, could we highlight the resiliency and power our communities embody as they must navigate these spaces daily?

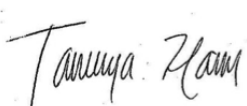

So, we embarked on a journey to create a way of sharing our multilingual communities' stories through Portraits for Courage. We identified three elders in our community who have and will continue to navigate racism throughout their lives. In speaking with them we discovered something unexpected but obvious – their individual coping mechanisms of humor, service, and achievement is what moves them forward. All who navigate these spaces, where we are either confronted with blatant discrimination or unconscious bias, also use our own coping mechanisms to find joy and celebrate life.

Their stories gave us hope, in a time when hope is hard to find. By highlighting our elders' tenacity, we think about our youth and how they can be inspired to see their own resilience and understand these experiences continue to build the tools in their toolbox to thrive.

I share this process to show that our team is always thinking about, what's next; how can we inspire; how can we advocate; how can we change hearts and minds. You can count on us to be innovative, uplifting and tenacious in achieving our vision for a South Dakota that is diverse, inclusive, and anti-racist.

“The beauty of anti-racism is that you don't have to pretend to be free of racism to be anti-racist. Anti-racism is the commitment to fight racism wherever you find it, including in yourself. And it's the only way forward.” – Ijoema Oluo

Sincerely,

Taneeza Islam, CEO

PORTRAITS OF COURAGE

On June 4th, we debuted our original documentary series, Portraits of Courage, at the State Theatre in downtown Sioux Falls. This series spotlights three community elders: Chandradhar Dwivedi, Nieema Thasing, and Nitza Rubenstein.

Portraits of Courage highlights these elders' unique experiences with bigotry and discrimination and their journeys toward resilience and healing. Since the debut, we have been able to share these stories with hundreds of people by holding screenings and panel discussions in Sioux Falls and Yankton.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

With our educational trainings, we move people from thought into action. For example, our bystander to UPSTANDER training equips listeners with tools to effectively intervene during incidents of discrimination. This year, we gave this training in multiple South Dakota communities, in-person and virtually!

RAPID RESPONSE

NO HUMAN IS ILLEGAL

In January, a group of us went to Pierre to listen to Kristi Noem's joint address regarding her visit to the Southern border. We spoke out against Noem's speech through media interviews and social media advocacy with a focus on the facts about the Southern border, as well as the positive contributions of immigrants in South Dakota.

HATE HAS NO HOME IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Together with a coalition of local organizations and community leaders, we released a joint statement denouncing the return of an Islamophobic speaker hosted by the SD Military Heritage Alliance. We condemned the dangerous rhetoric meant to create fear in our community and will continue to work to create a South Dakota where all are welcomed, included, and able to live without fear.

OUTREACH AND CIVIC ENGAGEMENT

We have always believed in meeting communities where they are. This year, that included tabling at community events and going door-to-door to thousands of Sioux Falls households. Through this work, we were able to directly target communities who need our resources the most, providing them with information on Medicaid Expansion and voter registration.

12,500

households reached
through door-to-door
canvassing

Building a South Dakota that is inclusive means helping everyone be informed on what's on the ballot. This election cycle, we distributed translated sample ballots available in English and Spanish, with Amharic, Arabic, and Nepali translations available on our website.

IMMIGRANT ALLIES FORUM

In December, we hosted an immigrant allies forum in collaboration with the SD DREAM Coalition, with over 100 people in attendance online and in person. At this forum, we educated people on their rights, how to effectively be allies, and established six action teams to help support, educate, and advocate for immigrants in our community.

2024 GALA

Our Gala was at the end of a divisive and stressful election cycle. Advocating for the dignity and value of immigrants, refugees, and Muslims, who were particularly targeted this cycle, is the core to who we are as an organization.

The Gala brought together our friends and supporters to highlight our work and accomplishments. We celebrated with music, dance and food. Remembering we are stronger together in community during uncertain times brought all of us hope.
