NON-POROUS

FRP is an ideal material for both functional and decorative uses in planters and other products due to its impressive durability, as it is highly resistant to wear, impact, and environmental conditions, ensuring long-lasting use; its lightweight nature makes it easy to handle and transport; and its weather resistance allows it to withstand extreme conditions, including UV rays, rain, and humidity, without fading or degrading. Additionally, FRP is corrosion-resistant, making it perfect for outdoor use in high-moisture areas, requires minimal maintenance to retain its original appearance for years, and offers customizable finishes in matte, glossy, and marble options, while being non-porous to prevent mold and mildew growth.
