Choose the Good Life!

Make the State the Right Size!

Restoring prosperity through sound fiscal design

The Laffer Curve - finding the sweet spot

The relationship between tax rates and tax revenues is not linear.

A 30% tax rate yields the highest level of production and total income - beyond that, both growth and efficiency decline.

When the state share exceeds the tax rate...

...it becomes unfinanceable.

The result: permanent debt expansion, disguised expropriations, or inflation.

Predictability in economic planning erodes - private investment stalls.

30% state share and a Spending-Ranking Law - and we're done!

Define three transparent creditor classes:

Those who get less than expected.

Those who get a little something.

Those who get almost nothing.

Hold a vote & get democratic consent for the most favored option

Make Capitalism Work!

Preserve capital through capital adjustments

Problem of insufficient employee motivation

due to high capital prizes & relatively low wages, resulting in weak growth and declining productivity – a path to bankruptcy

A startup scenario is also a bankruptcy scenario

90% fail; high relevance of employee engagement

Bankruptcy avoidance?

Consequences for established companies in high-priced residential areas?

Companies in areas where the average annual income is less than one-third of the cost of a single-family home should be encouraged to behave like startups with regard to their capital structure.

- High employee equity participation (options), low investor participation.
- The latter usually remains at a maximum of 20%, after various funding rounds, despite providing the capital base.

Ordered by dysfunctional monopoly capitalists, delivered by the Left!

You buy 'saving the world' and an Antifa that doesn't set you on fire. You get: shortages, high taxes, and concentration of capital.

We don't work for your delusions!
