Meet Charlie

JUST IN CASE YOU'RE WONDERING ABOUT CHARLIE...

Relatable, entertaining, motivating yet transformative. CHARLENETTE is the voice of the new generation. She is a passionate children's book author, confident motivational speaker, and a former educator that commands the audience with her infectious smile, positive attitude and real testimony. With a background in early childhood education, Charlenette combines her love for storytelling with her understanding of social and emotional topics to create engaging stories that spark curiosity that her audience can connect to. Her debut children's book, My Cool Crown, quickly became a favorite among parents and educators because of the powerful message. "This is the Crown You Can't Put Down." In addition to writing, she has developed workshops for women and teens that help shift the perspective in their lives. She is committed to promoting literacy and the joy of self-love in her community. Outside of writing and motivating the next generation, Charlenette enjoys traveling, daily adventures, and spending time with her family. She resides in Houston, TX where she continues to create "Cool" stories that delight and inspire others to love themselves unapologetically.
