August Demo – Lisa Seaman

My painting practice is about curiosity. What inspires me today? How can I paint it? What will it look like? I primarily paint landscapes, national parks, birds, pets, and fish. I typically use a palette knife because I like the chunkier style, the forced looseness, and the minimal rinsing water required. My work is impressionistic, bold, loose, textured, and colorful.

Painting is meditative for me. I like the feeling of getting lost in the art. I like the feeling of waking up in the morning thinking about what I'll paint next. I find painting takes courage. When I'm feeling more tentative, I like to do small multiples. I often make hand-painted greeting cards as a way to get started.

I also do some mixed media painted paper collage. I create stencils for birds and fish, leaving the collage portion to peak through. I like to make pairs of birds or fish looking at each other, each on a separate block.

. As a child, I loved making Barbie houses and props out of shoe boxes. And through the years, I've done pottery, knitting, crochet, photography, watercolor, and now acrylic painting. I've taken art classes from many teachers, both in person and online, and I'm always continuing my education and trying new things.

Painting has opened my eyes to the world around me. I see colors, shadows, clouds, plants, landscapes, and especially pets' eyes in new ways. This brings me joy and even more curiosity. Ooh, I want to paint this, too! And what will it look like?! I have to paint it to find out!

I'm a juried Artist Member of Open Studios in Boulder county, and I'm a member of the Boulder Art Association. I paint out of my home studio in Boulder, Colorado. Contact me if you'd like to visit. <https://linktr.ee/lisaseamanpaints>
