Murals and Canvas

Preparations & Expectations

Square One: You will receive a digital version of your mural design. You will receive paint chips representing the color pallet of your choosing. What you see is what your mural will be. Our creative contract will cover expectations and total cost. Our creative contract, digital design version, and paint chip collection is final agreement to expectation. (Once we're 'on the wall' change requests will add costs and time to your mural.)

Lighting. I may bring in a portable painting light if the room is dark due to weather or window size/placement. (I'll need an electrical outlet)

Tools. Brushes, ladder, painter's paper/tarp, painter's tape, water source (if none is available for me). My tools can be left in the room end of day or stored in a large bin depending on your lifestyle needs.

Water. Acrylic paint is water soluble and harmless to plumbing. An available sink/bathroom/utility/kitchen expedites my processes. I'm fastidious with other's property and leave your things as I found them.

Hours. You set my hours on your wall. I paint every day until the wall is finished unless your schedule conflicts.

Noise. I'm quiet on the wall. I don't listen to music via buds or speakers.

The Wall. Your main wall color and preparation for my arrival is your responsibility. Clean walls. Cleared space no less than four feet facing the wall to be worked. Furniture and the like moved 'aside' does not need to be tarped unless we are including the ceiling.

Pets. I love all the animals. But they need to be cordoned out of the room I work unless you like colorful paw prints around the house. Bird rooms are a specialty. If your companion birds don't mind me, I don't mind them.

Paint. Low/No VOC paint smell is akin to a clean smell. I paint in a thin manner so drying time to no smell at all is fast.

Access. Please let your neighbors know about me. A stranger coming and going is off putting. Additionally, security systems and I do not get along. I'll ask they be turned off during my entry and exit. No matter key fob or pass code I've run into dead battery an typos. Let's just bypass that for a few days.

Payments. A 20% down payment (non-refundable) is due at signing of our creative contract, remainder due at final viewing. You will receive a digital invoice for each transaction. Debit, Credit.

What you can expect during the process.
