

With no dogma or dialectic foundation

we have a generation (or two) adrift in a time of unparalleled "lostness:"

no rudder, no sail,

no land from which they came,

and no destination

to which they are headed.

