

"The good school does not just offer what the student, or the parent, or the state desires, but it says something about what these three ought to desire."

David V. Hicks

