B) READING COMPREHENSION (16 Marks)

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions below:

Mobiles are not just phones – they're an interesting part of our everyday lives! A mobile is a small, portable device that can do many things more than making calls. It can play games and take pictures and send them to our friends. It even helps us learn new things.

One cool feature of smartphones is the touch screen. Instead of pressing buttons, you can simply touch the screen to make things happen. It's like magic at your fingertips! Mobiles also have apps, which are like tiny programs that let you do different things. Whether you want to chat with friends, solve puzzles, or read stories, there's an app that can do almost everything!

But mobiles aren't just for fun. They can be helpful too! You can use them to set reminders for important tasks, find directions when you're lost, or even learn a new language with a dictionary app. However, it's important to use mobiles in a good way to save your time and develop new skills.

In conclusion, mobiles are amazing devices that have become a big part of our lives. They are not just a means of communication; they're like mini-computers that open up a world of possibilities!

Read the following text carefully then answer the questions below:

Winter is cold in some places. Many plants do not grow during winter as snow and ice may cover the ground. It can also be hard for animals to find food during winter but they get through this time in many ways.

Birds can fly to a place with nice weather in winter, then they come home in the spring. We call this migration which is a good way to avoid the cold.

Another good way to avoid the cold is to sleep through it. Many animals hide during the winter and their bodies slow down. They save their energy by living off their fat until food returns. We call this hibernation. Snakes, frogs, and bears hibernate.

Some animals store food in their homes. They do not sleep all winter, but they do much less. They live on what they saved in the summer and autumn. This is what squirrels, beavers, and raccoons do. Other animals hit it out; they do not leave nor hide. They survive in life by the help of nature. Some animals grow thicker coats in the winter. Other animals change colour. The arctic fox is brown in the summer. His coat turns white in the winter to absorb the sun and gets warmer. Winter may be pretty but it is dangerous too.

Humans have been caring for others for many years. Ancient people tried to heal sickness using plants, and other natural materials. Ancient Egyptians used onions and honey as natural resources. Romans created medicines from spices to heal common problems like coughing. People became interested in science in the 15th century. This helped to a better understanding of the human body and how it worked.

In the late 18th century scientists learned that bacteria caused illness, and hospitals began to focus on keeping clean to keep bacteria away. The early 19th century showed huge improvements in both hospitals and medical machines. So, healing sickness became easier and less risky.

In the 20th century, doctors began to develop medicine for many fatal diseases like cancer and heart disease. Today, technology has also an important impact on the healthcare system. It saves time and effort, for example, you can get your test results in a minute without having to leave your home. B) READING COMPREHENSION (16 Marks)

نموذج الإجابة

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions below:

Humans have been caring for others for many years. Ancient people tried to heal sickness using plants, and other natural materials. Ancient Egyptians used onions and honey as natural resources. Romans created medicines from spices to heal common problems like coughing. People became interested in science in the 15th century. This helped to a better understanding of the human body and how it worked.

In the late 18th century scientists learned that bacteria caused illness, and hospitals began to focus on keeping clean to keep bacteria away. The early 19th century showed huge improvements in both hospitals and medical machines. So, healing sickness became easier and less risky.

In the 20th century, doctors began to develop medicine for many fatal diseases like cancer and heart disease. Today, technology has also an important impact on the healthcare system. It saves time and effort, for example, you can get your test results in a minute without having to leave your home. Technology also offers medical apps that guide people to their health and fitness. Technology has improved the quality of the healthcare system and saved millions of people's lives.

Read the following text carefully then answer the questions below:

When it is very cold in the USA, few people want to go outside, unless they have to. However on sunny winter days, winter sports are popular. Winter sports are snowmobiling, snow-shoeing and cross-country skiing. When lakes and rivers freeze, many cities have free open-air skiing areas.

However, for many people, real "winter sports" means downhill skiing. In the USA, there are two main areas for this: the Adirondack Mountains in the Northeast, and the Rockies in the west. The Rockies are the best place in the USA for skiing. The snow that falls is usually very dry. Dry snow makes skiing very enjoyable.

For most Americans, a skiing holiday means a trip by plane to the Rockies , as most American cities are a long way from them. Americans do not take long holidays, so they cannot spend many days driving to the. People in Los Angeles and other West Coast cities can drive to skiing areas in just a few hours. However, American skiing areas encourage visitors to come by plane and use buses when they arrive; lots of skiing areas offer free bus services from the nearest airports.

a) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c and d: (6x2=12 marks)
