“

Over the years in the events industry, I have listened to, hired, and produced many speakers. I would recommend Aris again and again to any organization that wants to learn how to energize a company culture using the “What if” principle.

Kathy Miller - President
International Live Events Association

Aris took the time to know and understand our audience, which in turn gave our members relevant information that they could bring to their organizations.

He provided the audience with the toolkit to implement the WHAT IT mentality and it was the most used resource at our conference.

Mallie Reynolds, Associate
National Association of Manufacturers

Very engaging with a relevant message. You were funny, motivating and the Intrapreneurial drive is exactly the message everyone needed to hear.

Zepure Karalian- President
California Skin Care Conference
