

God Alone Hath Immortality

lyrics by:
Brooke Typaldos

Verse 1:

Are the dead really dead? Or are they spirits in the skies
Sent from heaven to watch over us through life?
Are the dead really dead? Are they sleeping in the grave Awaiting Christ's return His resurrection shout to obey? (Daniel 12:2, 1 Thessalonians 4:13-17)

When God formed Adam in the sand, God breathed into clay and gave it life
A body plus the breath of God made Adam a living soul (Genesis 2:7)
And when we die the Holy Spirit returns to God, and our bodies return to dust
(Ecclesiastes 12:7)
Our love, our pain, and all our thoughts - these things have passed away (Ecclesiastes 9:5-6)
We sleep in our graves, awaiting Resurrection Day! (1 Thessalonians 4:14)

Chorus:

God alone hath immortality (1 Timothy 6:16)
He holds the life of every creature in His Hand (Job 12:10)
In Him we live and move and have our being Acts 17:28)
The only self-existing One; the Great I Am (John 8:58)
The only self-existing One; the Great "I Am!"

Verse 2:

Are the dead really dead? Are we building castles in the skies?
Embracing a doctrine that makes man out to be divine
"I Am" means God always has been and that He self-sustains
It is blasphemy for any man to make these claims

When God formed the world at His command (Hebrews 11:3),
He spoke into a void and created light (Genesis 1:3)
All things have their origin in Him and Him alone (Colossians 1:16)

He holds the laws of physics in His hands (Colossians 1:17)
Moment-by-moment He sustains all life (Isaiah 42:5)
There is life alone in the Son of God, and He who has the Son has 1

Chorus:

God alone hath immortality (1 Timothy 6:16)
He holds the life of every creature in His Hand (Job 12:10)
In Him we live and move and have our being (Acts 17:28)
The only self-existing One; the Great I Am (John 8:58)
The only self-existing One; the Great I Am!

Chorus:

God alone hath immortality (1 Timothy 6:16)
He holds the life of every creature in His Hand (Job 12:10)
In Him we live and move and have our being (Acts 17:28)
The only self-existing One; the Great "I Am" (John 8:58)
The only self-existing One; the Great "I Am!"