Dear Prayer Partner,

Question: Have you ever considered how the gospel sounded to you or to someone hearing it for the first time?

For many people, the death, burial, and resurrection message of hope strikes home and is the answer to profound spiritual longings. Many will respond to this message of hope with repentance and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Still others, as happens in many countries, perceive the gospel message as a threat to their established beliefs, practices, and faith. Such attitudes in play they choose to reject the message of salvation by God's marvelous grace.

As our missionaries and I can testify there are those who upon hearing the gospel for the first time resist the message. When this occurs a lengthy process of breaking down barriers as the Holy Spirit works in their lives. This eventually leads to the salvation of the submissive hearer.

I personally along with the many missionaries we support and pray for have often heard them testify to the importance of building relationships to help break down barriers and gain recurring occasions to share the gospel message.

Our personal witness in our everyday walk with the Lord has proven effective in reaching the first-time hearers of gospel. Our personal walk with the Lord has proven effective in our JerUSAlem and around the world. Your everyday walk with the Lord, your prayers and financial support will result in formidable rewards as you stand before the Lord.

Unworthy His,

Wendell Hiers
