

What cannot be achieved with gentleness is hard to achieve with harshness

The way things are presented undoubtedly affects how they are received. Presenting things in an atmosphere of joy and gentleness makes them more likely to be accepted.

What cannot be achieved with gentleness is hard to achieve with harshness. The Prophet (ﷺ) said to our mother Aisha (May Allah be pleased with her): "Be gentle, for Allah is Gentle and loves gentleness in all matters. He grants through gentleness what He does not grant through harshness or anything else. Beware of harshness and shameful deeds, for Allah does not love shameful deeds or those who do it."

He (ﷺ) also said: "When Allah intends good for a household, He guides them to the door of gentleness."
