Mortgage Protection

Mortgage protection insurance (MPI) is a policy that helps cover your mortgage payments if you pass away. It ensures your home remains secure for your family by paying off the remaining balance or providing financial support for a set period.

Accidental Death

Accidental death insurance, also known as accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D) insurance, provides financial protection in the event of a fatal accident or serious injury. It typically pays a lump sum to beneficiaries if the insured person dies due to an accident, and may also cover partial payouts for injuries like loss of a limb or eyesight.

Final Expense

Final expense insurance, also known as burial insurance, is a type of life insurance designed to cover end-of-life costs such as funeral expenses and medical bills. It typically offers lower coverage amounts than traditional life insurance, making it a more affordable option for older adults seeking financial protection for their loved ones.
