Curator: Markos Dolopikos

Exhibition Duration: From 29 October until 10 November 2021

Fine Art photographs have a large audience that is always attracted by the different aesthetics in the depiction of reality. The images carry a magic that emerges from the photographer's point of view and from their willingness to present something ordinary through a different prism and a different perception. Frequently different techniques are used as a tool by the photographers in this artistic expression.

Viewers get a taste of what the artists see with their own eyes. It is always extremely interesting to try to get into the mind of the artists so that you can get even a little glimpse of how they perceive the world around them.

Especially when the artists come from different parts of the world with different aesthetics, experiences and rules.

This opportunity is given at the Blank Wall Gallery, where over 120 artists from different parts of the world, from Greece to Japan and from Canada to Iran will present their works in the exhibition entitled "Fine Art" which will last from on October 29 and until November 10.

Due to the health restrictions, to enter the gallery visitors should present either a certificate of vaccination or a certificate of recovery. In any case, the use of mask within the gallery is compulsory.
