Xenophobia

If you had xenophilia and I had xenophobia
and we were from two cultures
far apart as night and day
then I would want to run from you and you would want to run to me and I would cry to look at you and you would want to play.

Everything would frighten me.
Your different skin.
Your different prayer.
You would find me beautiful.
You'd reach your hand.
You'd try to share.

And I would hide inside my fears.
And I would tremble in my tears.
Such loneliness might last for years.

But you would still be there.

And one day I would look at you.
Your different prayer.
Your different skin.
I'd see your hand extended and I'd know that we were kin.

I'd know you waited for me
with a love I did not earn.
It might take me a while but eventually I'd learn.

Soak in the Song!

- Let's just listen to the song, let is soak in!

Afraid of Love

His name was Xenophobia
He lived north of Moravia, he was afraid of
everyone in town.

Her name was xenophilia
she worked in memorabilia.
She smiled and laughed
at everyone around.

Afraid of love,
In love with fear,
Sad hearts live alone
In stony towers,
but love shines on
through all the years
One by one
the hearts
they start to flower.

He met her at the grocery store,

Afraid of love,
In love with fear,
sad hearts live alone
In stony towers,
but love shines on
through all the years
one by one
the hearts
they start to flower.

Darkness always shatters with the light.
Day will always cover up the night.
Hope will always drown out all sad.
Good will always swallow up the bad.

They married in the marketplace
And gave hope to the human race
Some people laughed,
And other people cried.
It's hard to know just what to say,
When all the hate has gone away,
and this new love
will never be denied.

Darkness always shatters with the light.
Day will always cover up the night.
Hope will always drown out all sad.
Good will always swallow up the bad.

Afraid of love,
In love with fear,
sad hearts live alone
In stony towers,
but love shines on,
through all the years,

One by one
the hearts
they start to flower.

One by one
The hearts
They start to flower

One by one
The hearts
They start to flower.
