

THE FEDERAL RESERVE

There are many ways that the Federal Reserve has stolen money from our people under False Pretenses, and they have been protected and encouraged in this by our British Territorial Subcontractor—the governmental services corporation calling itself "the United States of America, Incorporated." The Federal Reserve is a cartel of mostly European banks that loan their brand of money—literally—to our foreign subcontractors, the Brits.

Donald Trump is the current "President" of "the United States of America, LLC"—yet another version of a corporation that the same old miscreants have dreamed up out of thin air. Whether enfranchised, or set up as a Limited Liability Partnership, it makes no difference. They are still a British operation, based out of London. Right now, they are overseeing the dissolution of the Pope's Municipal Corporation, which had been doing business as the UNITED STATES (also Incorporated) until it filed Chapter 7, Involuntary Bankruptcy ten years ago.

What we are seeing in Washington, DC, right now—is the totally predictable and obligatory audit of all the departments and agencies of the former UNITED STATES corporation. There isn't any vengeance, any salvation, nor any rescue implied.

Except for the mind-boggling size of the bankrupt entity, there is nothing unusual about what is going on. Nothing at all. The staggering amount of graft and misappropriation and theft and embezzlement and other financial crimes that are being discovered in the process is unusual, but the process itself is totally routine.

Like a travelling show folding up its tents, they are rolling up the bits and pieces of the former UNITED STATES corporation, auditing them, and making decisions as the Receivers about what to keep, what to throw out, and what to reorganize. So far, they've managed to audit one percent of what they have to ultimately audit, and found billions upon billions of dollars wasted, misdirected, and plain vanished.

The gross mismanagement will have other consequences. People will go to jail over this but never mind; Mr. Trump doesn't have any choice about that, either. No amount of rioting or "orders" from defunded courts or anything else will stop this. This is part of what they mean when they keep saying, "Nothing can stop it."

They are right. Nothing can stop it. Any attempt to interfere in the work of the bankruptcy court will just get kicked to the curb and they will keep on rolling, because this is a corporation like any other corporation, and it is bankrupt. So you can all stop being alarmed and all the breast-beating and politicking can stop. Every nasty jot of every purloined dollar, every pork barrel project, all of it, is going to come out and be aired like truly dirty laundry.

There is nothing about this process that is mysterious, or partisan, or avoidable. No use blaming Mr. Trump. If it wasn't Trump, it would be some guy named Johnson, Smith, Turner or Finkelstein.

The Federal Reserve is just another part of the machine that will be audited, though they planned ahead and cleaned up most of their dirty laundry during their own separate bankruptcy back in 2009. That action guarantees that the people of this country won't get to see all the skullduggery the FED pulled prior to that; it won't be addressed as part of this bankruptcy, because it was already addressed in the prior FED bankruptcy.

You never heard about that, either, did you? The fact is that there have been many such bankruptcies over the past 160 years and the Perpetrators always try to keep it secret from the American People, who are studiously kept in the dark by all these "Presidents" of foreign corporations merely named after our Union of sovereign nation-states and our Federation of States of the Union.

Duty, due diligence, and reasonable and customary practice would dictate that they tell their employers when they go bankrupt, but they never do. They always hush it up and say, "Tush, tush, it's a private matter..." even though it has a disastrous impact on their Employers, who they name as Secondaries responsible for paying their debts.

Behind our backs. That's how they dump all their spending on the American people. That's why they don't care how much they spend or how they spend it.

The Brits, acting as Collaborators of this grotesque fraud scheme, step forward as our "representatives" and collect the assets and act as the Receivers, when in fact, we, the American Government, are the actual owners of everything in sight and should be the Receivers, instead.

We never agreed to any of this and never would, so we are no fun for these reprobates to play with.

Mr. Trump will do the nasty clean-up job, which will occupy the better part of a decade. The Brits will try to pretend that we are their "Citizens" and that we are obligated to act as loyal British Subjects; we will tell them to stick it in their ear and bring the evidence.

They won't want to do that, because all they have is an unconscionable contract foisted off on a little baby in its cradle, and whatever adhesion contracts they were able to mislead and coerce people into after the fact.

The conclusion that we have been defrauded and misrepresented by our own Employees and that our country has been illegally occupied for 160-plus years by our own unlawfully converted military, will come forcefully to light, no matter how the guilty parties try to keep it secret and spin the narrative.

The Big Thing that will inevitably come home to our people and to our employees is just how sinfully and criminally mismanaged everything has been. And all the many ways that the innocent employers, the people of this country, have been made to pay for it, will also be evident.

Auditing the FED will be comparatively disappointing, as they have already done their house cleaning after the Big Short on Wall Street in 2007. That doesn't mean the FED is clean; far from it. What it means is that the FED is smarter than the average rat and has already cleaned their books and shredded their most damning records more than a decade ago.

Too bad for them that, as explained in our book, "Blood Money", they have been engaged in a system that is criminal by definition, and which depends upon both peonage and slavery.

Today, Americans and other people throughout the world have a choice. You can continue to trust your lives and wealth and welfare to these crooks, or you can come home and take the responsibility for running your own country. If listening to the endless reports of gross financial crimes is already making you sick to your stomach, you have a choice. You don't have to pay for it or put up with this anymore.
