UK Travel Tips

Passport and Visa

You need a valid passport to enter the UK. Though you will not need it on a daily basis, you should always have it available. Keep it safe. Never pack it in your suitcase. And never carry it in your shirt pocket or hip pocket where it is visible to pickpockets.

Your US passport is an extremely valuable item and an important form of identification. We suggest that you take a picture of your passport with your cellphone, so that you always have a copy available. (It might be wise also to email that picture to yourself, so you can access it remotely.) Please make sure that your passport is valid for at least six months after the return date of your journey.

United States citizens do not need to have a visa to enter the UK. However, it will be necessary to secure an Electronic Travel Authorization (ETA). Here is information about the ETA on the US State Department website. And here is where you can apply for the ETA on the UK Government website.

Health and Vaccinations

We expect everyone to be healthy and fit to travel. Some of our tours require walking distances over uneven terrain. If not sure about your level of fitness, please consult with your physician and discuss the prospect of your participation with the group leader.

Please check the CDC vaccination recommendations for the United Kingdom and consult with your primary care doctor about these precautions or any other health concerns.

If you take prescription medications on a regular basis, be sure that they are properly marked with prescription numbers as customs officials may be suspicious of unmarked drugs. Here you can find TSA instructions/recommendations for transporting medicine. Note that it is a good idea to keep any medicine you have need on a regular basis, properly contained and labeled, in your carry-on bag for ready access (and in case your checked bag gets misplaced).

Money, Financial Hints, and Tipping

The pound Sterling (symbol: £; abbreviation: GBP) is the main currency in the United Kingdom. Most establishments will accept major credit cards (Visa, Mastercard). But it is a good idea to have some cash on hand for small purchases, tips, etc. How much? This is up to the individual traveler. But $500 (or the equivalent in GBP) can be thought of as a general guideline.

Generally, travelers can withdraw money — in the local currency — from ATMs. Take care to select ATMs associated with major banks or credit card companies, as the associated fees for money withdrawn from these tend to be less. And make sure you have sufficient funds in your bank account to cover any withdrawals. Lastly, it is a good idea to notify your bank and credit card companies that you will be traveling to the UK to prevent legitimate purchases from being declined.

Tipping is covered for all events in the program. Naturally, travelers would pay for and tip appropriately for any individual services acquired along the way, such as hotel room service. As a general rule, tipping expectations are not as high as they are in the US. Sometimes, services charges are automatically included in restaurant bills. When they are not, it is customary to tip a waiter 10-15 percent of the bill. Here is a resource for determining appropriate tips.

Baggage

Please do not bring more luggage than you can manage — specifically, one checked suitcase and one reasonably sized carry-on bag. You will also be allowed to bring a personal item such as purse, small backpack, or a laptop bag in addition to your carry-on bag.

The airlines have very specific rules about baggage. Generally, each checked bag must NOT exceed 20 kg or 158 cm (length+height+width). A 28-inch suitcase (i.e., 28 inches on the longest side) is about right. But make sure you check with the airline itself about size requirements for all bags (checked and carry-on) before packing and arriving at the airport.

Due diligence is also required when it comes to packing liquids of any kind in your carry-on bag. The rule of thumb is that any liquids in your carry-on bag must be no more than 3.5 ounces and should be packed in a clear, quarter-sized zip lock bag. This enables security agents to see items clearly. The bulk of medicines, lotions, and cosmetics can be packed (again, in zip lock bags) in your checked bag. But these general guidelines should always be checked against updated TSA information here.

Finally, it is a good idea to pack enough underwear and overnight necessities in your carry-on bag for about two days. This is just in case your checked bag gets lost or delayed.

Clothing

Plan to dress casually (shirts and blouses, khaki pants, jeans, shirts, etc.) but to bring at least one somewhat dressy outfit for any special occasion that arises. This means slacks and skirts, not high heels or coats and ties. Women might want to bring along a scarf.

This website offers a month-by-month comparison of the climate and weather in the different areas of the UK you will be visiting. Use it as a resource when planning what to pack. The weather in the UK is notoriously variable. One thing for sure, though, is that you are bound to experience winds and rain at some point(s) during your trip. We suggest bringing an umbrella and rainproof coat or jacket in addition to a sweater for days that are on the colder side.

It is also not a bad idea to bring a hat, sunglasses, and sunscreen. And be sure to pack comfortable yet sturdy shoes for walking. (Lighter-weight shoes could be brought along, as well, for use in the afternoons and evenings at the hotel.) If you wear glasses, think about bringing an extra pair. Handbags should have a strap across the shoulder.

Electricity

In the UK, electricity runs on a 230 supply voltage and 50Hz. The typical electrical plug is Type G (3 prongs). If you plan on bringing dual voltage devices only (often such items as mobile phones, tablets, kindles, etc.), you will merely need to bring, in addition, a plug converter/adaptor compatible with the Type G plug. However, if you intend to bring any non-dual device which operates at the US voltage, 110/120V, you will need to bring a voltage converter in addition to the plug adaptor. Travelers are responsible for verifying, individually, whether a plug adaptor and/or voltage converter is required.

Other Items

You may wish to bring a few over-the-counter medications for digestive issues, which sometimes arise during travel. Pepto Bismol and/or Imodium fit into this category. For a proactive approach, you might consider taking probiotics each day, something like Culturelle. Likewise, it is a good idea to bring items to address a potential cold (such as aspirin and Kleenex). And again, to be proactive, you might consider taking a vitamin boosting supplement like Air Borne. Other items that could come in handy include dry skin lotion, antibiotic cream, and hand wipes. But a caution is in order: when packing, remember the baggage size limitations!

Mobile Phones and WiFi

Most mobile phones can be used for international calling, texting, and internet access (data). Just be sure to check with your service provider for coverage and rates, as plans vary by service provider. For service not covered by your contract it is easy, inadvertently, to run up a bill of several hundred dollars in no time at all.

Another good communications tool is WhatsApp — a free app for your smartphone. Be sure to download it and learn how to use it in advance. Most hotels and cafes now offer free Wi-Fi, but it is not guaranteed. Check with the hotel for internet access options.

In case of emergency (i.e., a real emergency not birthday greetings), your family can always reach you through Academy Travel. The business number is 404-282-1055.

We regret that we're unable to provide individual assistance to participants with walking difficulties or other personal needs. The responsibility of the tour director/leader who accompanies your trip is to ensure that the larger group enjoys a relaxing and informative journey. AIR TRANSPORTATION: Negotiated under separate contract and subject to the terms and conditions of each individual airline.

LUGGAGE ALLOWANCE: Subject to the terms and conditions of each airline, but generally each participant will be allowed one piece of checked luggage at no additional charge when traveling on an international carrier — weight not to exceed 50 pounds. compartment. Participants are responsible for verifying baggage allowances with the respective airlines.

GROUND TRANSPORTATION ON TOUR: Air-conditioned, modern motorcoaches will be used throughout the trip for all excursions, touring and sightseeing. TAXES/TIPS/FEES: All service charges are imposed by lodging facilities. Admission fees to the sites or attractions on the official itinerary for the tour are included. Generally, tips for guides and drivers are included in the price of the tour and will be added to final invoice. This will allow the leader to handle the tipping for the group as a whole.

EXTRA COSTS: If you are traveling alone and wish to share accommodations, AITS will assign you a roommate if one is available. If there is no one with whom you can share, you will be invoiced for a single room. No price reduction will be extended to those sharing a triple-bedded room. Items or services not specially mentioned as being included such as laundry or dry cleaning and all items of a personal nature are at the full expense of the participant. Beverages are not included with lunch or dinner and are available only at extra cost.

DOCUMENTS/CANCELLATIONS/REFUNDS: All checks should be made payable to Inquisitive Ventures, LLC. A deposit is due to reserve each place on the tour. Interim and final payments are due as per the payment schedule for the respective program. Full payment, which is generally due about 45 days prior to departure, is non-refundable at time of payment. All cancellations must be in writing. No claim will be allowed for any service or sightseeing provided but not used in the course of the trip.

TRANSPORTATION LIABILITY: The several transportation companies which are contracted by AITS to provide services during the course of the tour are not to be held responsible for any act, omission, or event during the time passengers are not on board their carriers or conveyances. The passenger contract used by the carriers concerned, when issued, constitutes the sole contract between the transportation companies and the purchaser of such services, and IV dba AITS assumes no liability or responsibility in connection therewith.
