“Palm oil is the most productive vegetable oil crop compared to others, such as soybeans, sunflower, mustard seeds, or canola, producing up to four tons of oil per hectare per year.”

About Company

Palmic Oil Sdn. Bhd., founded in 2017 and headquartered in WTC, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, is today one of Asia's leading agribusiness groups.

At the core of Palmic Oil's strategy is an integrated agribusiness model that spans the entire value chain of the agricultural commodity business—from cultivation and milling of palm oil to processing, branding, and distribution of a wide range of edible food products in consumer, medium, and bulk packaging, as well as industrial agri-products such as oleochemicals and biodiesel. Through scale, integration, and the logistical advantages of its business model, Palmic Oil captures margins at every step of the value chain, achieving operational synergies and cost efficiencies.

Supported by a multinational workforce of approximately 100 people,

Palmic Oil is committed to sustainability across its global operations, supply chain, and the communities it serves.

Product Description

PALM OIL BASED FOOD

Palm oil-based foods are essential in the global food industry, found in products like margarine, bread, pastries, snacks, and instant noodles. Known for enhancing texture, flavor, and shelf life, palm oil is a cost-effective and widely used ingredient, contributing to the production of diverse, high-quality, and affordable food items.

FATTY ACID AND GLYCERINE

Fatty acids and glycerine are key by-products of palm oil processing, widely used in industries like cosmetics, pharmaceuticals, and food production. Fatty acids serve as raw materials for soaps, detergents, and lubricants, while glycerine is valued for its moisturizing, stabilizing, and emulsifying properties in skincare, medicines, and various consumer products.

BLEACHING EARTH

Bleaching earth is a highly absorbent clay used in refining edible oils, including palm oil, to remove impurities, color, and odors. Essential in producing high-quality oils, it ensures clarity, stability, and longer shelf life. Widely applied in the food, cosmetics, and pharmaceutical industries, it supports sustainable and efficient refining processes.

SURFACTANTS

Surfactants, derived from palm oil, are essential in cleaning, personal care, and industrial products. They reduce surface tension, enabling effective mixing of oil and water. Found in soaps, shampoos, detergents, and cosmetics, surfactants enhance foaming, cleansing, and emulsifying properties, making them critical components in everyday hygiene and cleaning solutions.
