

Liability Waiver

By enrolling a student in Scholars Collective programs, the parent or legal guardian agrees to the following terms and conditions.

Scholars Collective is committed to providing a safe, supportive, and structured learning environment for all students. While we take reasonable precautions to ensure student safety during all sessions and activities, participation in our programs is at the parent or guardian's discretion.

Parents and guardians acknowledge that Scholars Collective, its owners, instructors, staff, and affiliates will not be held liable for any injuries, accidents, losses, or damages that may occur during participation in classes, tutoring sessions, or related activities, except where required by law.

Parents and guardians are responsible for informing Scholars Collective of any medical conditions, learning needs, or special considerations that may affect their child's participation in the program.

Scholars Collective is not responsible for the loss, theft, or damage of personal belongings brought to sessions by students.

By registering for Scholars Collective programs, parents or guardians confirm that they understand and accept this liability waiver and agree to release Scholars Collective and its staff from any claims arising from participation in the program.

If you have questions regarding this policy, please contact:

admin@scholarscollective.ca