Our Signature Rice Varieties

Jeerakasala Rice (Kaima)

Jeerakasala rice is an aromatic, short-grain rice from the Bardhaman, West Bengal. It's also known as Wayanadan Kaima or Jeerakasamba rice. Jeerakasala rice, known for its distinct aroma and flavor, offers benefits like being easily digestible, rich in antioxidants, a good source of iron and zinc, and potentially beneficial for cardiovascular health and immunity.

- ✓ Aromatic. Short-grain rice from Bardhaman
- ✓ Easily digestible and antioxidant-rich
- ✓ Ideal for Biryani and festive dishes.

Basmati Rice

Indian Basmati rice is a unique long-grain aromatic rice, cultivated for centuries in the specific geographical region of the Himalayan foothills in the Indian subcontinent. Known for its extra-long, slender grains that elongate to at least twice their original size when cooked, Basmati rice offers a distinctive soft and fluffy texture, delicious taste, superior aroma, and a distinct flavour that sets it apart from other aromatic long-grain rice varieties.

Basmati Varieties: Pusa 1121, Pusa 1509, Pusa 1718 & Pusa 1401

Variants Based on Features

White Sella Basmati - Parboiled; firm and non-sticky grains after cooking

Golden Sella Basmati - Yellowish parboiled rice; ideal for biryani and pulao

Steam Basmati - Steamed and dried; retains aroma and firm texture

Raw Basmati - Natural, non-parboiled; requires more care in cooking

SONA MASOOR

Sona Masoori Rice

It is considered to be the most significant non-basmati rice. Preparation of sona masoori rice is largely considered to be a healthy dish as it contains less starch and is easily digestible. It is famous for preparing dishes like porridge, pongal, biryani and regular jeera rice. One of the reasons why Sona Masoori rice is so popular is because it is easy to digest. It is best for weight loss and people use it for daily consumption due to its soft texture and distinct flavour. Also we distribute Raw and Steam in sona masoori.

- Grain Size: Shorter and smaller than basmati rice grains
- Nutritional content: Low in starch, calories, and fat, and high in nutrients like iron and potassium
- Digestion: Easy to digest, light on the stomach, and good for people with stomach problems

Palakkadan Matta

Kerala Matta Rice, also known as Palakkadan Matta or Rosematta, is a parboiled rice variety traditionally mostly grown in Palakkad a district of Kerala. It's recognized for its reddish-brown hue and nutty flavor, and it's a staple in Kerala cuisine. There are different varieties of Matta rice easterly winds that blow through the Palakkad gap give the rice its unique taste and quality.

- Vadi Matta (Long Grain): This variety is known for its long grains and is often called "Vadi rice".
- Unda Matta (Short Grain): This variety is characterized by its short, rounded grains, sometimes referred to as "Unda rice"
- Matta Broken Rice: This is a parboiled rice where the grains are broken.

More Varieties We Offer

Ponni Rice

Rice is an excellent source of energy, especially energy-giving carbohydrates, which are used in the body for brain performance, physical activity, bodily functions and everyday growth and repair. After carbohydrate, protein is the second most abundant constituent of rice. When compared to that of other grains, rice protein is considered one of the highest quality proteins. Rice is low in fat and cholesterol free. An ideal commodity which is also the staple diet of over 70% of world's population is widely consumed for its rich carbohydrates and essential vitamins.

- ✓ Ponni rice is high in dietary fiber, which aids in digestion and promotes regular bowel movements, helping to alleviate constipation and other digestive issues.
- ✓ The fiber in Ponni rice can help lower bad cholesterol (LDL) and increase good cholesterol (HDL), reducing the risk of heart disease.
