

JOHN 8:36 PRAYER

Heavenly Father:

I thank You for the gift of freedom that comes only through Your Son, Jesus Christ. Your Word declares in John 8:36, “So if the Son sets you free, you will be free indeed.” Lord, I hold on to that promise today with all my heart.

There are moments when I feel weighed down by fear, shame, or struggles I can’t always put into words. But Jesus, You came to break every chain and to open every prison door. You remind me that I don’t have to live bound by my past, my mistakes, or the lies of the enemy. In You, I am free. In You, I am whole.

Father, teach me to walk daily in that freedom. Let me not return to the things You’ve already delivered me from. When the enemy tries to remind me of who I used to be, help me to boldly declare who I am in Christ: redeemed, forgiven, and loved.

Thank You, Lord, that this freedom isn’t fragile, it isn’t temporary, and it’s eternal. It covers my mind, my heart, and my soul. It sets me free to worship You fully, to love without fear, and to live with purpose. So today I declare: I am free indeed. Free from fear. Free from shame. Free from guilt. Free to walk in the light of Your truth.

Thank You, Father, for the power of the cross and the freedom of Your Spirit.

In Jesus’ mighty name I pray...
Amen
