A UNIFIED VISION FOR THE FUTURE OF REGENERATIVE MEDICINE

IMMORTAL Regenerative Medicine Summit is the result of a strategic collaboration between two leading institutions shaping the future of longevity and regenerative science: the Caribbean Anti-Aging Medicine Association (CAAMAS) and the Sociedad Latinoamericana de Medicina Regenerativa (SOLAMREG). Together, these organizations bring a unified vision to elevate scientific standards and expand high-level medical education across the Americas.

CAAMAS is recognized for its commitment to advancing anti-aging, preventive, and longevity medicine throughout the Caribbean and the broader Latin American region. Through congresses, fellowships, workshops, and continuing medical education programs, CAAMAS provides physicians with an authoritative platform for evidence-based training in regenerative, metabolic, and wellness-centered healthcare.

SOLAMREG, a longstanding leader in Latin America, specializes in the advancement and ethical application of regenerative medicine. The organization brings together physicians, surgeons, and researchers across multiple countries, offering structured academic programs and international congresses that strengthen clinical expertise and promote innovation within the field.

By combining CAAMAS' regional influence in longevity science with SOLAMREG's deep academic footprint in regenerative medicine, this partnership delivers a world-class summit designed for physicians, researchers, and industry leaders. It represents a shared mission to accelerate responsible, science-driven regenerative practices across the region.
