

ONE DAY

The day begins at the break of dawn
No footprints on the dew on the lawn
Birds sing over the quiet of morn
Shortly one hears the sound of a horn
The world speedily begins to move
As man continues efforts to prove
It's a new day, a new start
Fast paced tearing nature apart
Quickly the Days work is over
Soon the sun will run for cover
Night has once again appeared
Bedtime for some has neared
Snoring, resting possibly a dream
Until a repeat of the dawns beam

SIN

What is this thing called sin
Until convicted we'll continue in
A wrong we all know for sure
Just the opposite of something pure
To many, sin is no wrong
Some grow weak others strong
It isn't sin unless you know
In Christ you have to grow
Difficult as it may seem
Sinless perfection should you dream
One by one all do commit
Belief and understanding are the way
Oh yes it can be erased today
His words will lead us there
He died for our sins to bear

NIGHT

The sun is moving west only to disappear
Shortly ago all was bright and clear
The sky has changed, full of stars
We can see planets, costellations, even Mars
We're now left without the great light
Darkness is upon us, we call it night
Could it be a signal for us to rest
It's time when the devil works his best
The full moon is a delight to see
Created for viewing by you and me
We continue to do by artificial light
Even in the darkness of npght
Could our use of night be wrong
It was created for time of rest all along
For some reason the night was taken away
Several hours will pass before the next day
Darkness is a time we do sleep
To figure this mystery is to deep
Thank you, Lord for both day and night
To bed we go, sleep tight

Written by.

Leon Hawker