MSU/HSS/CRS0006-Certificate in Panchkarma Technology

Course Description

On completing this course, candidates will assist therapists and doctors in performing Panchakarma procedures by applying basic Ayurvedic concepts and principles. They will competently interpret prescriptions, perform treatments, and educate patients on herbs, formulations, and dietary guidelines. Responsibilities include maintaining the Panchakarma unit, ensuring hygiene and equipment readiness, monitoring patients' vital parameters, and performing routine patient care tasks during procedures. Candidates will ensure patient safety and comfort while adhering to professional standards and protocols.

Personal Attributes

Candidates should demonstrate empathy, patience, and professionalism in providing compassionate care to patients. They must have attention to detail, strong communication skills, and the ability to work collaboratively with therapists and doctors. A commitment to maintaining hygiene, adaptability to procedural needs, and accountability for patient safety are essential. Physical stamina and a calm, composed demeanor are also important for ensuring effective and efficient delivery of Panchakarma services.
