EGTDD 2025

This event aims to be a forum for meetings, exchanges, and debates among academics, researchers, and industry professionals, focusing on advances and developments in research related to all aspects of environmental preservation — including air, water, and soil — as well as pollution control, sustainable management of water and natural resources, waste treatment and sustainable waste management, and, consequently, resilience to natural and industrial disasters.

The conference will feature keynote speeches, oral and poster presentations, as well as training sessions. The working languages will be English and French.

EGTDD 2025 will provide an excellent international platform for sharing knowledge and expertise among students, researchers, and professionals in the fields of applied and theoretical environmental sciences, sustainable management, and engineering. The proceedings will be published (with an ISBN), and selected contributions may be submitted for publication in various international journals.
