

Prepositions After Nouns

1. Noun + of

Used to show possession, origin, description, or relationship.

- The end of the movie was surprising.
 - She felt the importance of learning English.
 - The cost of living is increasing.
-

2. Noun + to

Often shows connection or direction.

- His attitude to work is very positive.
 - The key to success is hard work.
 - My invitation to the party arrived yesterday.
-

3. Noun + for

Used to show purpose or reason.

- There is a need for more teachers.
 - This is a reason for celebration.
 - He has a talent for languages.
-

4. Noun + in

Used to show place, situation, or involvement.

- There was an increase in prices last month.
 - She has a lot of experience in marketing.
 - We saw a change in the weather.
-

5. Noun + with

Shows association or relationship.

- His connection with the company is strong.
 - She has a problem with her computer.
 - He has a good relationship with his coworkers.
-

6. Noun + on

Often used for topics or focus.

- He gave a lecture on climate change.
 - I read an article on healthy eating.
 - The effect on the environment is worrying.
-

7. Noun + at

Used for reactions or specific points.

- Her surprise at the news was obvious.
 - Their attempt at cooking was a disaster.
 - His shock at the results was understandable.
-

8. Noun + about

Shows topic or concern.

- I have a question about the schedule.
 - There was a lot of meetings to talk about the project.
 - Her worry about the test kept her awake.
-

9. Noun + from

Used for origin or difference.

- The difference from the original is clear.
 - His escape from the city was exciting.
 - The benefits from exercise are well known.
-

10. Noun + between

Used for relationships or comparisons.

- The connection between the two ideas is clear.
- There's a difference between American and British English.
- The agreement between the countries was signed yesterday.