

Legal Cases & How I Handled Them

As the founder of Pratyush & Associates, I have successfully represented numerous clients in various legal matters, ranging from corporate disputes to criminal defense. Below are some examples of notable cases and how I handled them, ensuring favorable outcomes for my clients.

1. Corporate Litigation: Resolving a High-Stakes Business Dispute

Case Overview: A major client faced a multimillion-dollar lawsuit from a competitor over allegations of contract breach and intellectual property infringement.

My Approach:

Conducted a thorough investigation of the contracts and legal agreements.

Collected key evidence demonstrating that the client adhered to all terms of the agreement.

Negotiated with the opposing party to reach a settlement, avoiding a costly and lengthy court battle.

Outcome: The case was settled out of court, saving the client time, legal costs, and potential reputational damage, while preserving their business interests.

2. Criminal Defense: Defending a Wrongly Accused Individual

Case Overview: A client was falsely accused of fraud and faced serious criminal charges that could result in imprisonment.

My Approach:

Meticulously analyzed all evidence presented by the prosecution.

Conducted a comprehensive investigation to uncover inconsistencies in the charges.

Presented a compelling defense backed by witness testimonies and expert opinions.

Outcome: The client was acquitted of all charges due to insufficient evidence and the discrepancies we uncovered during the trial.

3. Real Estate Dispute: Successfully Navigating a Property Conflict

Case Overview: A client was involved in a complex real estate dispute involving property ownership and breach of contract with a real estate developer.

My Approach:

Drafted a detailed analysis of the property contracts and agreements.

Filed an injunction to prevent the developer from proceeding with the disputed transaction.

Represented the client in court, negotiating terms for the rightful transfer of property ownership.

Outcome: The court ruled in favor of my client, ensuring that they obtained rightful ownership of the property without additional legal entanglements.

4. Intellectual Property: Protecting a Client's Patent

Case Overview: A tech company client discovered that their patented technology was being used without authorization by a competitor.

My Approach:

Filed a lawsuit for patent infringement and damages.

Worked closely with technical experts to demonstrate the uniqueness of the client's technology and the unauthorized use by the defendant.

Engaged in mediation to reach a favorable settlement.

Outcome: The case was resolved with a significant settlement in favor of the client, who was also granted an ongoing licensing agreement to protect future use of their intellectual property.

5. Tax Disputes: Securing a Favorable Resolution in a Complex Tax Case

Case Overview: A client was facing a significant tax liability due to a misinterpretation of tax laws by the authorities, resulting in heavy penalties.

My Approach:

Conducted an in-depth review of the tax filings and regulations.

Represented the client in negotiations with tax authorities to rectify the misinterpretation.

Filed an appeal and presented a solid case supported by legal precedents.

Outcome: The penalties were waived, and the client's tax liability was reduced, saving them from financial strain and future audits.

—

6. Labor & Employment: Winning a Wrongful Termination Case

Case Overview: A senior executive was wrongfully terminated from a major corporation without due cause, and the employer refused to provide severance benefits.

My Approach:

Filed a wrongful termination lawsuit on behalf of the client.

Provided evidence of the client's long-standing performance and employment agreements.

Negotiated with the corporation's legal team to reach an amicable settlement.

Outcome: The client received a substantial severance package and compensation for damages.

Conclusion

At Pratyush & Associates, I approach each case with diligence, professionalism, and a commitment to protecting my clients' rights. Whether it's a complex corporate matter or a personal criminal defense case, my goal is always to achieve the best possible outcome for every client.

If you would like to discuss your legal matter or require representation, please contact me directly by visiting contact us page.