OVERVIEW

Tamandua Ecolodge is not just a place to visit—it is part of an ongoing conservation project where animals rescued by the Yanacocha Wildlife Rescue Center are reintroduced into their natural habitat. This private reserve in the Ecuadorian Amazon offers a meaningful experience for those who seek to explore nature while supporting biodiversity protection.

During this three-day journey, you will walk jungle trails, discover hidden waterfalls, and take part in activities that reflect the culture and environment of the region. Along the way, there is always the possibility of observing species that now live freely in the reserve—birds, monkeys, and other wildlife that once needed rescue and rehabilitation.

From $559 per person / $769 per couple – All Inclusive
