- C: New indoor decoration, clearly
- D: Immediately google "best stick display ideas"

2. It is raining:

- A: Raincoat on, walk anyway
- B: Short pee trip, then cuddles
- C: You ask the dog what they prefer
- D: You both stare out of the window and complain

3. Hair on the couch:

- A: Lint roller in every room
- B: "This is why we cannot have nice things"
- C: You wear it like a badge of honor
- D: You bought furniture that matches the fur color

4. Vet appointment:

- A: Organized folder with records
- B: Notes on your phone
- C: Panic, then remember the date last minute
- D: The vet knows you and your dog by first name

SNACK STYLE:

- Chewy long lasting treat
- Crunchy cookies
- Fresh fruit or veggies

EVENING PLAN:

- Couch cuddles
- Gentle play
- Guarding the house from the window

Now hand this page to your dog and see if they approve the schedule with one tail wag, two wags, or full body wiggle.

DOGGY LOVE LANGUAGE DECODER

Instructions: Tick everything your dog does regularly. Then see which love language has the most ticks.

PHYSICAL TOUCH

- Leans full body weight against you
- Sleeps pressed to your side
- Paws at you when you stop petting

GIFTS AND TREASURES

- Brings toys to your lap
- Delivers random socks or leaves
- Drops a slightly chewed treat at your feet

QUALITY TIME

- Follows you from room to room
- Waits outside the bathroom
- Prefers your boring work to exciting yard time

ACTS OF SERVICE

- Alerts you to every sound
- Guards door, window, and mysterious air
- Wakes you precisely at breakfast time

WORDS AND SOUNDS

- Responds to your voice tone more than words
- Happy noises when you talk
- Tilts head like "tell me more"

Whichever category ends up with the most checkmarks is your dog's primary love language, the one they use to say 'I adore you!' louder than all the others.
