An old, blind man was begging for money along a busy street. On a cardboard sign, next to an empty tin cup, it read: 'Blind – Please help'. The cup remained empty for the next two hours. The passers-by were unmoved and it was heart-wrenching to watch.

(16)

(17)

A young writer seated at a café nearby studied the scene. Without a word, she walked towards the man and turned the cardboard sheet back-to-front. Quickly, she rewrote the sign and left.

(18)

Immediately, people began dropping coins into the tin cup. The non-stop clinking was music to the blind man's ear. Curious, he asked a stranger what was written on the sign. "It says, 'It's a beautiful day. You can see it. I cannot," the stranger replied.

(19)

(20)

$60 (all participants aged 10 years and above)

Here's what you can look forward to!

Village Hopping

Visit the pretty villages scattered throughout the town - each with its own distinctive character. While you do some sightseeing and shopping, your knowledgeable tour guide will acquaint you with stories of the villages' past and present.

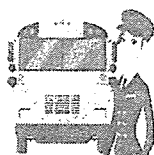

Fruit Farms

Visit the local fruit farms which grow over 20 different types of fruit. Learn about the unique farming techniques and get a chance to sample some of the seasonal produce. Fresh fruit juice will also be served!

Local Delights

Savour the taste of traditional dishes prepared with local ingredients. You probably will not be able to have them anywhere else! All meals and refreshments for the day will be provided. Come with a good appetite!

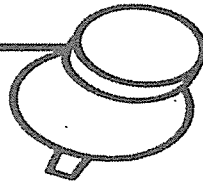

Transport and Guide

Travel in a clean and comfortable air-conditioned tour coach. Be well taken care of by an experienced and approachable tour guide and coach driver.

What a participant said about the Harvest Town Day Tour:

"My husband and I took our parents and three children on this tour. The coach driver, Mr Koh, and tour guide, Bridget, made us feel very safe, comfortable and relaxed throughout the trip! Bridget knew a lot about all the places we visited! At first, I was afraid that my children would get tired of taking in all that information. Well, I was unduly worried! Bridget was so humorous that all of us thoroughly enjoyed listening to her commentaries! The meals were excellent and my children had fun trying all the different types of fruit; some they had never even seen before! We had a great time!"

Jessica, mother of three

Read the passage below and answer questions 71 to 80.

(20 marks)

As a young boy, I used to mow Mrs Long's Lawn. Even though I was paid very little for the chore, my parents encouraged me to offer my service. "When Christmas comes, I'll have a present for you," she promised me. I wondered what it would be. The boys I played with had rackets, bicycles and skateboards, and I convinced myself that she would likely choose from among those.

As Christmas approached, I restrained myself from going to Mrs Long's house for my present. Three days before Christmas, I could wait no longer. I marched over to her house in anticipation.

"I've been waiting for you," Mrs Long replied. She brought out a parcel which, under no conceivable circumstances, could hold a racket or a bicycle or even a skateboard. I was painfully disappointed, but did not show it. My parents, who had learnt from my previous experiences of accepting gifts, had warned me repeatedly to receive Mrs Long's gift whole-heartedly and say 'thank you'.

10

It was a rectangular parcel about a centimetre thick. Curiosity soon replaced my initial disappointment. Lifting it, the extreme lightness of the gift captivated me. I asked, "What is it?"

15

"A kind of magic. You'll see on Christmas Day," Mrs Long said.

Her words set my mind dancing with new possibilities. I studied the parcel with excitement, imagining the surprise held within.

On Christmas morning, I tore the wrapper off the gift. Opening the box, I found a pile of ten flimsy sheets of black paper inside, each labelled in faint letters, 'Carbon Paper Regal Premium'. "Is it magic?" I asked Mother.

20

Taking two pieces of white paper, Mother placed one of the black sheets from the box between them, and, with a pencil, wrote my name on the top piece of paper. Then, removing it and the Carbon Paper Regal Premium, she handed me the bottom piece of paper, which her pencil had in no way touched.

25

There was my name - dark and well-formed.

I was enthralled! It was indeed magic – to write on one piece of paper which mysteriously recorded on another. I held off grinding off the last shred of blackness from all ten sheets for as long as I could. When I finally did it, I was sad. The gift was indeed an unusual experience of a mystery that I had not expected. From then on, my curiosity would be piqued at anything that resembled 'magic' and I would not give up trying to understand it.

30

I have received some thundering presents since then but none came close to the magnificence of this one. Mrs Long knew that a boy like me might benefit from a present totally outside the realm of his ordinary experience. It has transformed my life forever.
