Learning about magnets is great fun. Magnets are used every day all over the world. Did you know most fridge magnets (1)
use ferrite magnets to keep them attached to the fridge

A magnet can come in different shapes and (2) saizes.

Some are rod magnets, ring magnets  square magnets and horseshoe magnets. One end of the magnet is called a North-seeking pole while the opposite end is the South-seeking pole.

There are special trains called Maglev trains. They use magnets to help them (4) traverl at very high speed. These trains have huge magnets attached below them to allow them to (5) flowt along special tracks of metal coils.

Long ago, a king went out to sea with a few of his men.

(1)

During the journey  it turned stormy. One of the king's men

(2) showted, "Throw your crown into the sea. Only then will the storm subside!"

True enough, the storm ended when the crown was tossed into the raging sea  The king and his men were saved.

(3)

Soon, the king and his men reached an island. They got off the junk. Suddenly, they spotted a strange (4) creecher running into the jungle.

(5)

"What was that  " he asked.

"It's a 'singa', Your Highness," answered one of his men.

"Well, in that case, we shall call this island Singapura."
