However,,there was always a crowd around Mr Lee. It was bigger during lunch hours. People sat on the grass and ate their lunches while listening to him.	5
Mr Lee was a friendly man in his fifties. I went to listen to him sing yesterday. He was dressed in white shirt and jeans. He had a small boom box and a microphone. He sang a wide selection of songs from "Silent River" to "Zoom Zoom Row".	10
I asked him politely if he knew that he was singing out of tune. Mr Lee replied with a twinkle in his eye. He said that I must be referring to his twin brother.
Perhaps it was his cheerful attitude that drew people to him. He laughed at himself and enjoyed what he was doing. Mr Lee put in a lot of hard work performing for his audience. He said, "I wanted people to appreciate my effort and feel happy listening to my music."	15

One day, after a scrumptious lunch at a fancy restaurant in Upper Bukit Timah Road, we passed by a pet shop and decided to go and have a look. I was thrilled as it was my first visit.
I came across an adorable little Collie that would not stop licking and nibbling my fingers. I asked my mother if I could have her but she frowned and told me that a Collie, with its thick mane, would be unsuitable in Singapore's hot weather. But it was two against one and before we knew it, my father was at the counter paying for it. I was on cloud nine.	5
Back home, the work of raising a puppy began. First, I had to come up with a name for it and it turned out to be more difficult than I had expected. Finally, I decided on 'Snowy' because of her white mane. There was much to learn about having a puppy and it was no easy task. It took us weeks to house-train her. Initially, it was topsy-turvy and my mother was always in a foul mood when things went wrong.	10
Last week, I invited my best friend, Lisa, for a sleepover. "Such a lovely dog! She's putting her head on my lap and looking up longingly at me, trying to get me to play with her!" exclaimed Lisa.	15
Snowy is a gentle and affectionate dog. She makes visitors feel welcome. For years, Snowy has been my faithful companion. I have hardly fallen sick, I will think that it is because of the long walks I have with Snowy every evening at our nearby park.	20
I have no regrets having Snowy. She has made me more responsible and has kept me fit and strong!
