

Map Series 2

Ships of Kai

Crafted by the Goblin Mapworks,
famed explorers and cartographers of Kai.

Nine hand drawn old school style ship plans.

Each map is 11x17 and suitable for black and white printing.

Two plans for each ship are provided, one with a few notes for the DM and one blank for use by the players, ready for your own notations and room numbers.

Need a crashed alien ship or an exotic living or stone ship on which the characters must travel,
here are the perfect places to tell your stories of eldritch travel.

Cargo Bay

The cargo bay of a typical Vignette is droppable and retrievable with a 100 ft. x 320 ft. outside dimension.

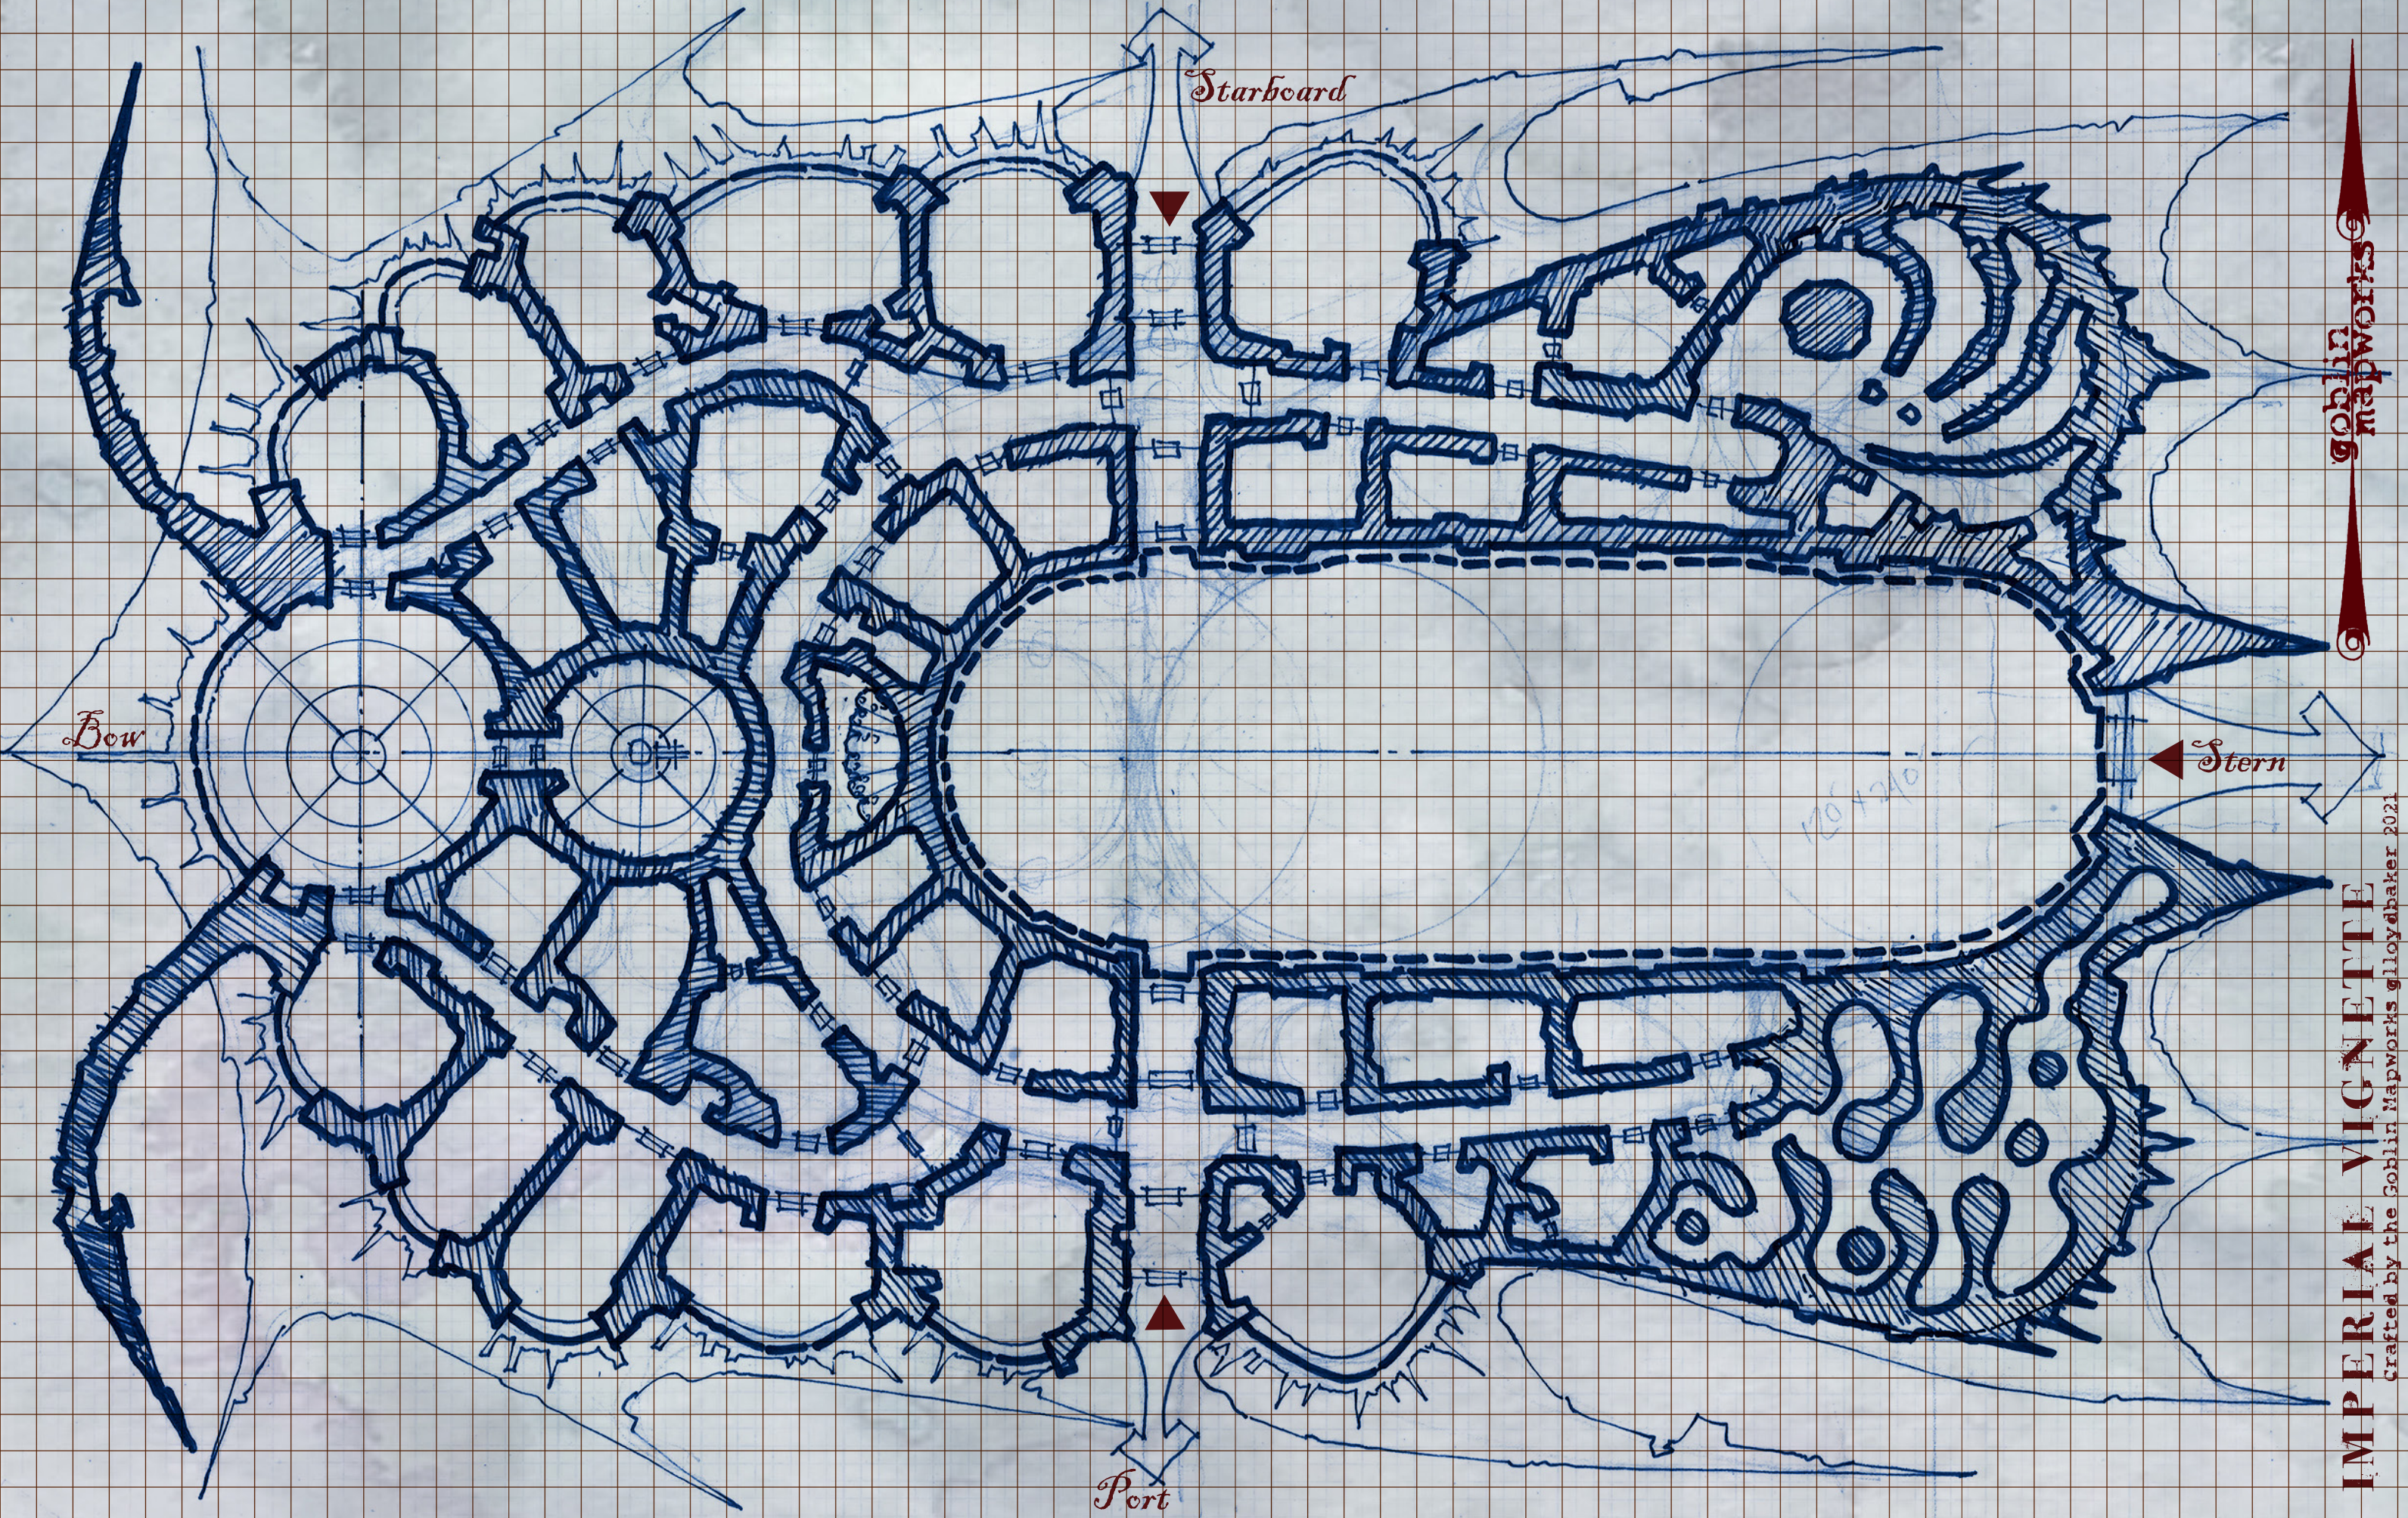

The Vooran are skilled at the creation of Fold Space cargo containers, the interior dimension being larger than the outside dimension. The most common fold-space cargo container has an interior measure of 100 yds x 320 yds but have been very rarely constructed as large as 1 mile by 3 miles. The only limitation being that no matter how large the interior volume, access and egress are limited by the 30 ft square door at the Stern and the pair of 20 ft square doors at Port and Starboard.

Eigaritan Cargo Bays are not droppable and are fixed within the ship. Eigaritans commonly make use of fold-space technomancy thus the interior of cargo bays is measured in yards instead of feet.

The Xanthos Trader is a watercraft, designed to surface to loading and unloading but to travel under water as a submarine for extended periods.

Xanthos Traders are ubiquitous throughout Xai, having largely replaced surface shipping and its limitations many thousands of years ago. Xanthos ships are famed for their barge-like ability to haul extremely heavy cargo with minimal power.

Starboard

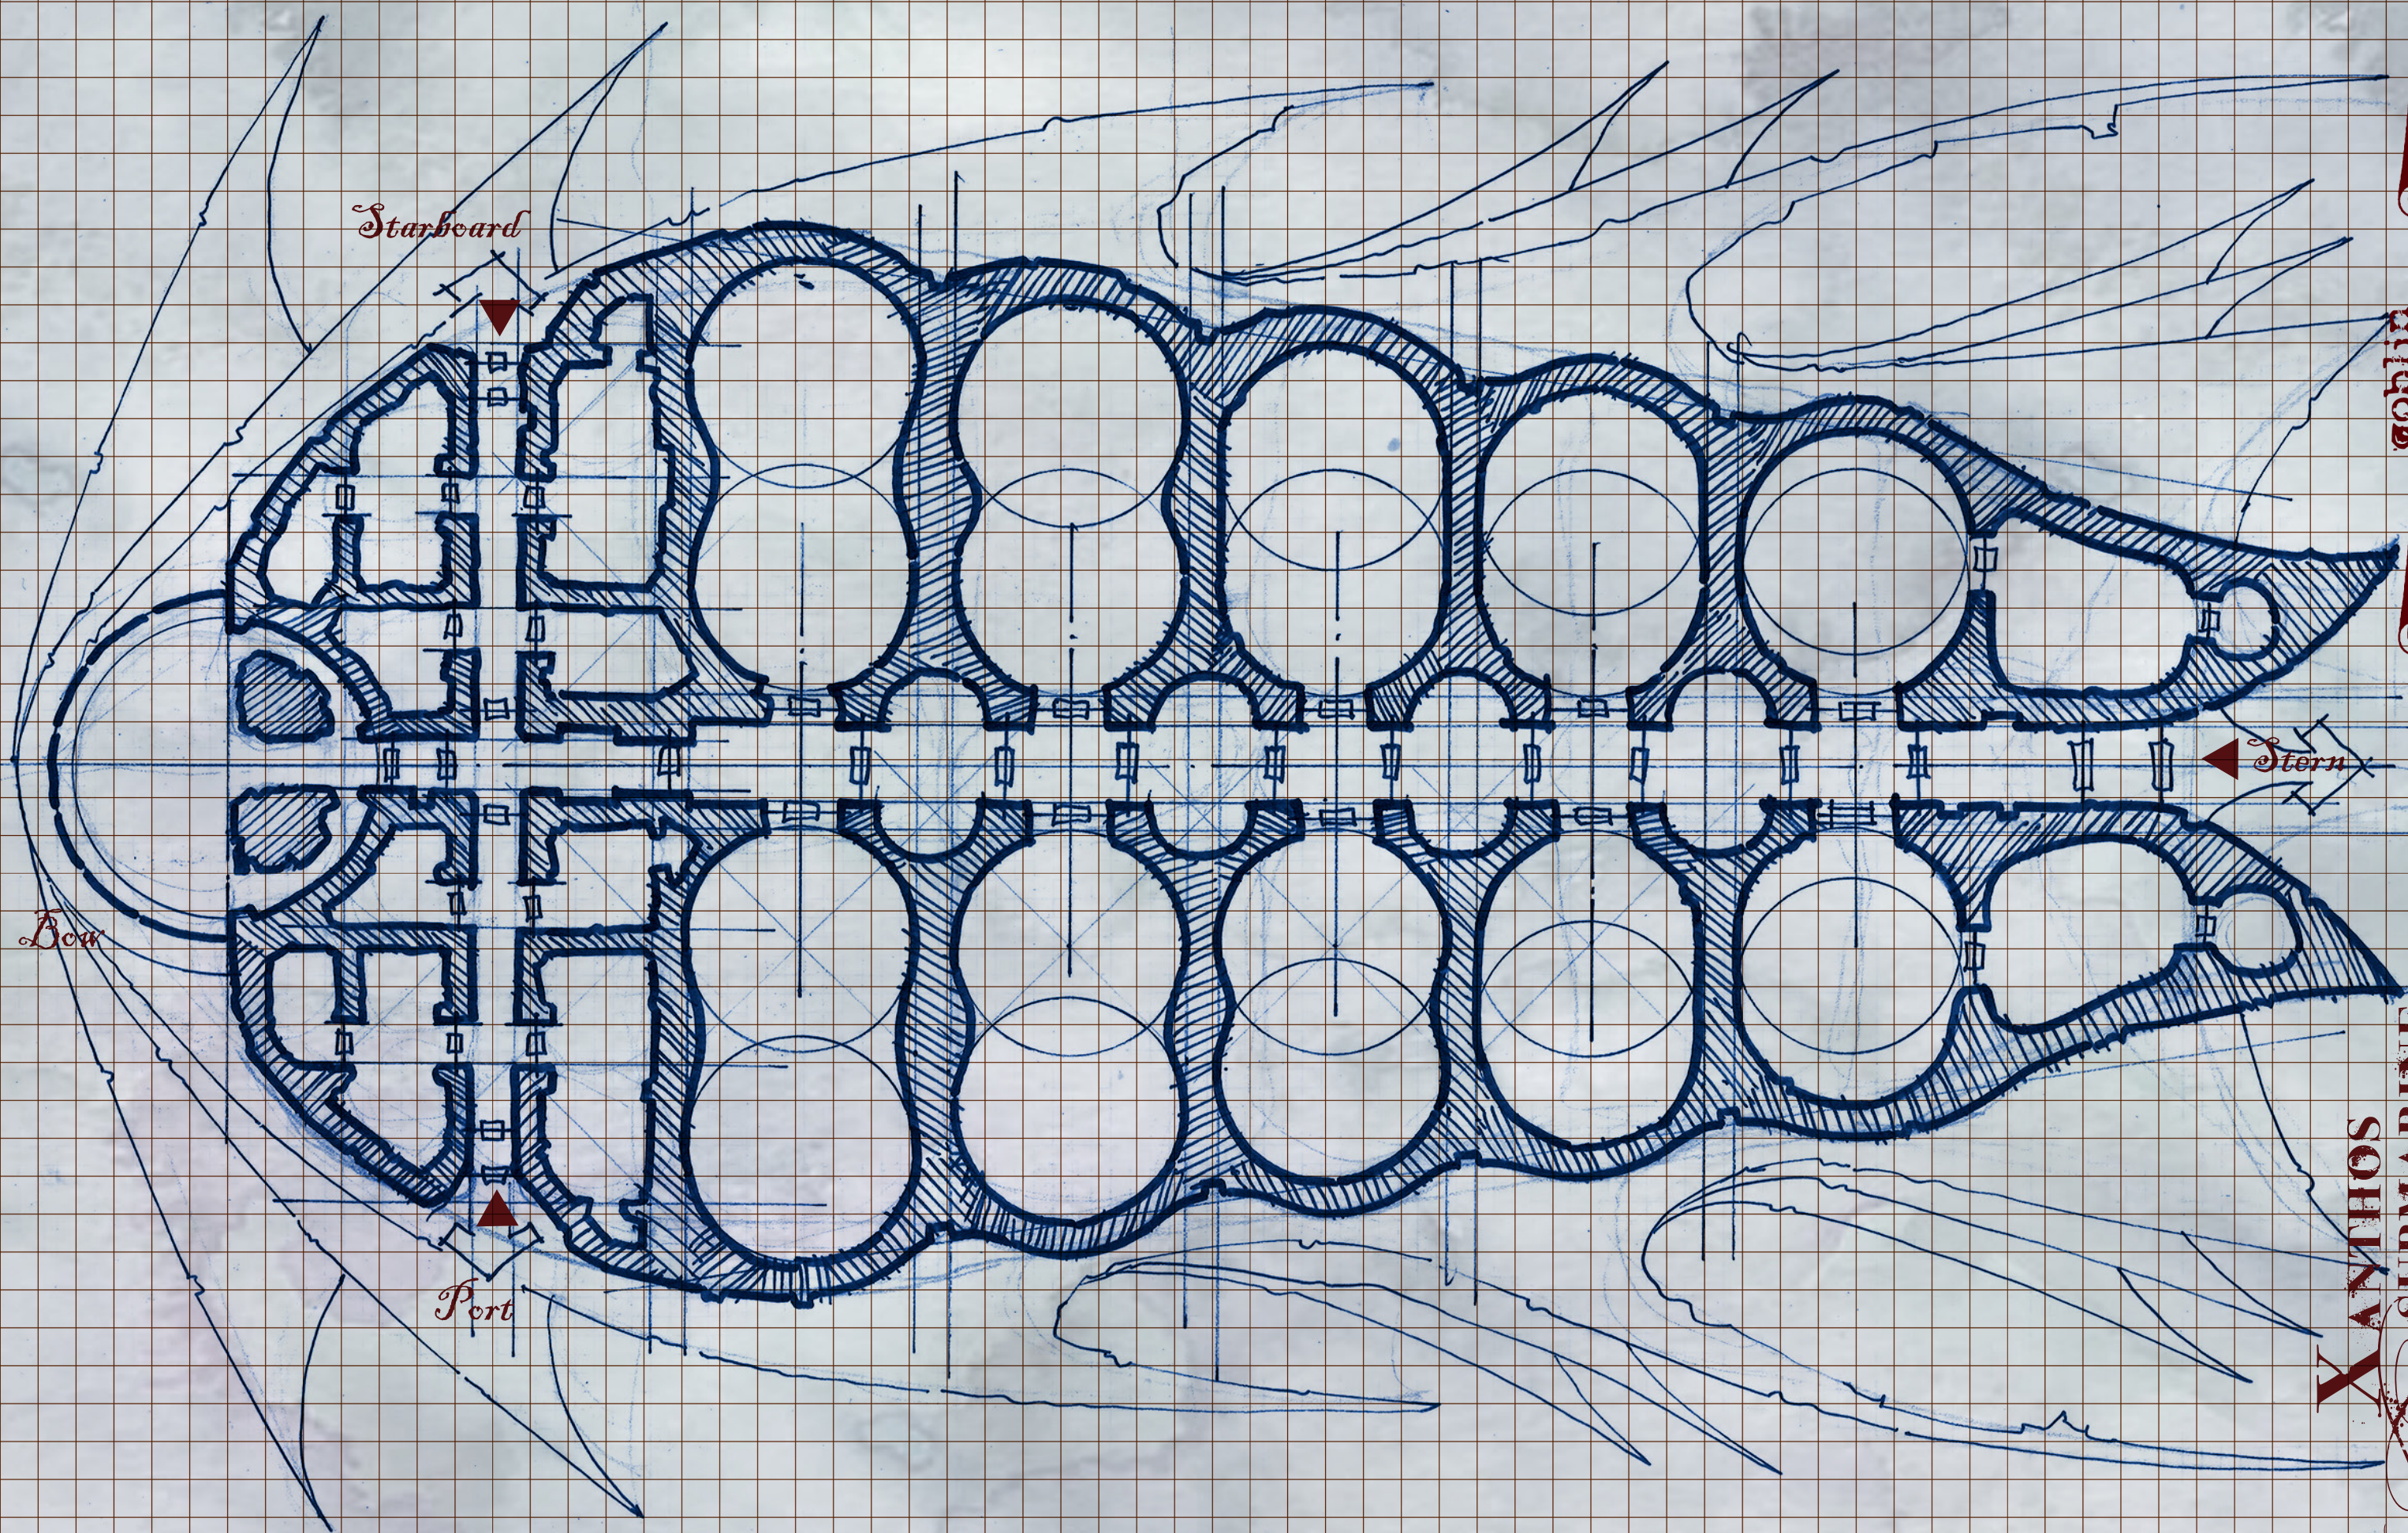

Xanthos Cargo Chambers are uniquely designed to slow the movement of time within.

Cargo carried in a Xanthos Cargo Chamber is placed into "Time Debt," each Week of outside time passing as only 1 day of interior time. More powerful Cargo Chambers have been know to stretch time within to 1 day per year or outside time or even 1 day per century of outside time. Making Xanthos Traders the default for shipping perishable or dangerous goods or beasts.

Grau Block Ships are non-living stone drift ships that are easily piloted by anyone with basic geomancy training

Block Ships are the construction and trash ships of Xai, their 100 ft x 240 foot factory holds may be fitted to accommodate most any hauling or construction task

These are usually short haul ships used for refuse collection or for use on heavy construction sites. They never warrant the expense of a fold space hold and are never Wyght Core capable (ferried on larger Wyght Core ships as needed should a construction site be far distant.

Vooran Pleasure Yachts make extensive use of Fold Space Technomancy and are especially popular with the super wealthy of Kai.

10 foot grid outside dimensions
all interior grids are 10 yard dimensions unless noted otherwise

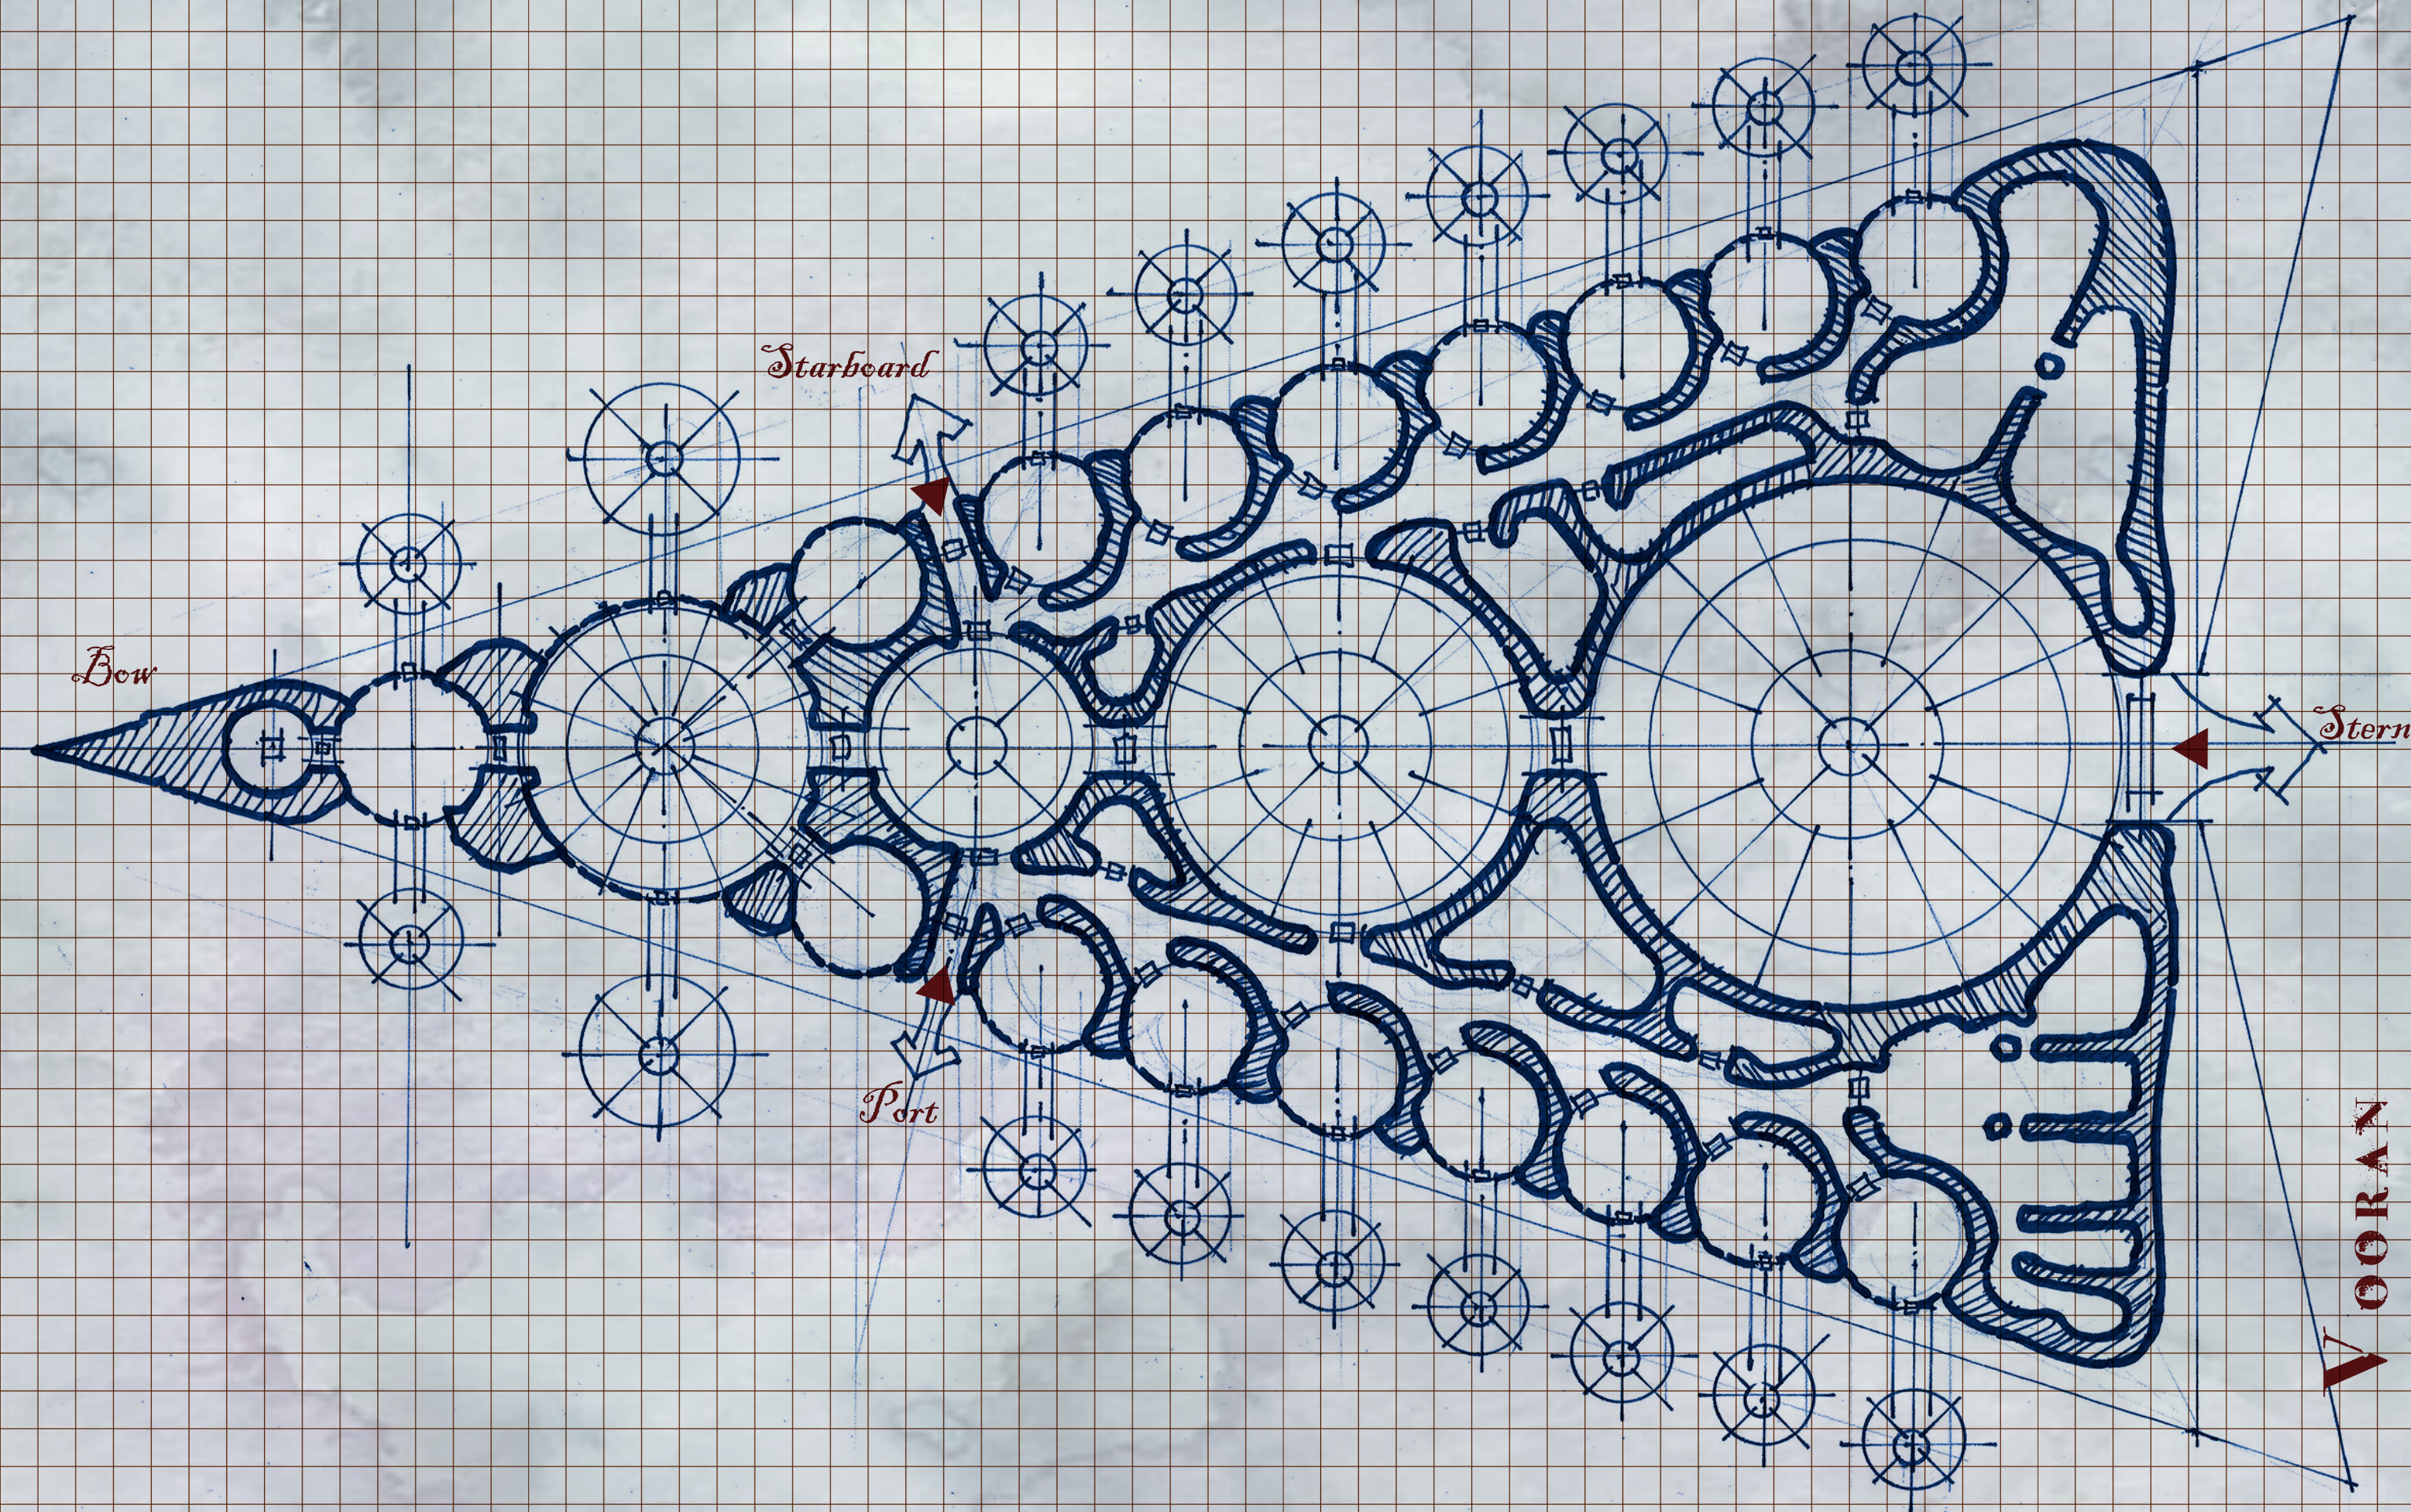

These ships are usually not Wyght Core capable, instead the living ship is psionic and an Illinyar Vooran navigator is permanently stationed aboard as captain capable of safely teleporting the ship instantly to most anywhere in the cosmos the wealthy patrons might wish to play.

Grid 10 foot
Always a crew of 13 Plane Troopers though the ship is fully sentient may rightly be considered the 14th crew member.

Earthships move through solid ground the same way that a submarine moves through water. Advanced magnetic and sonic technomancy is utilized for navigation within the utter dark of solid earth.

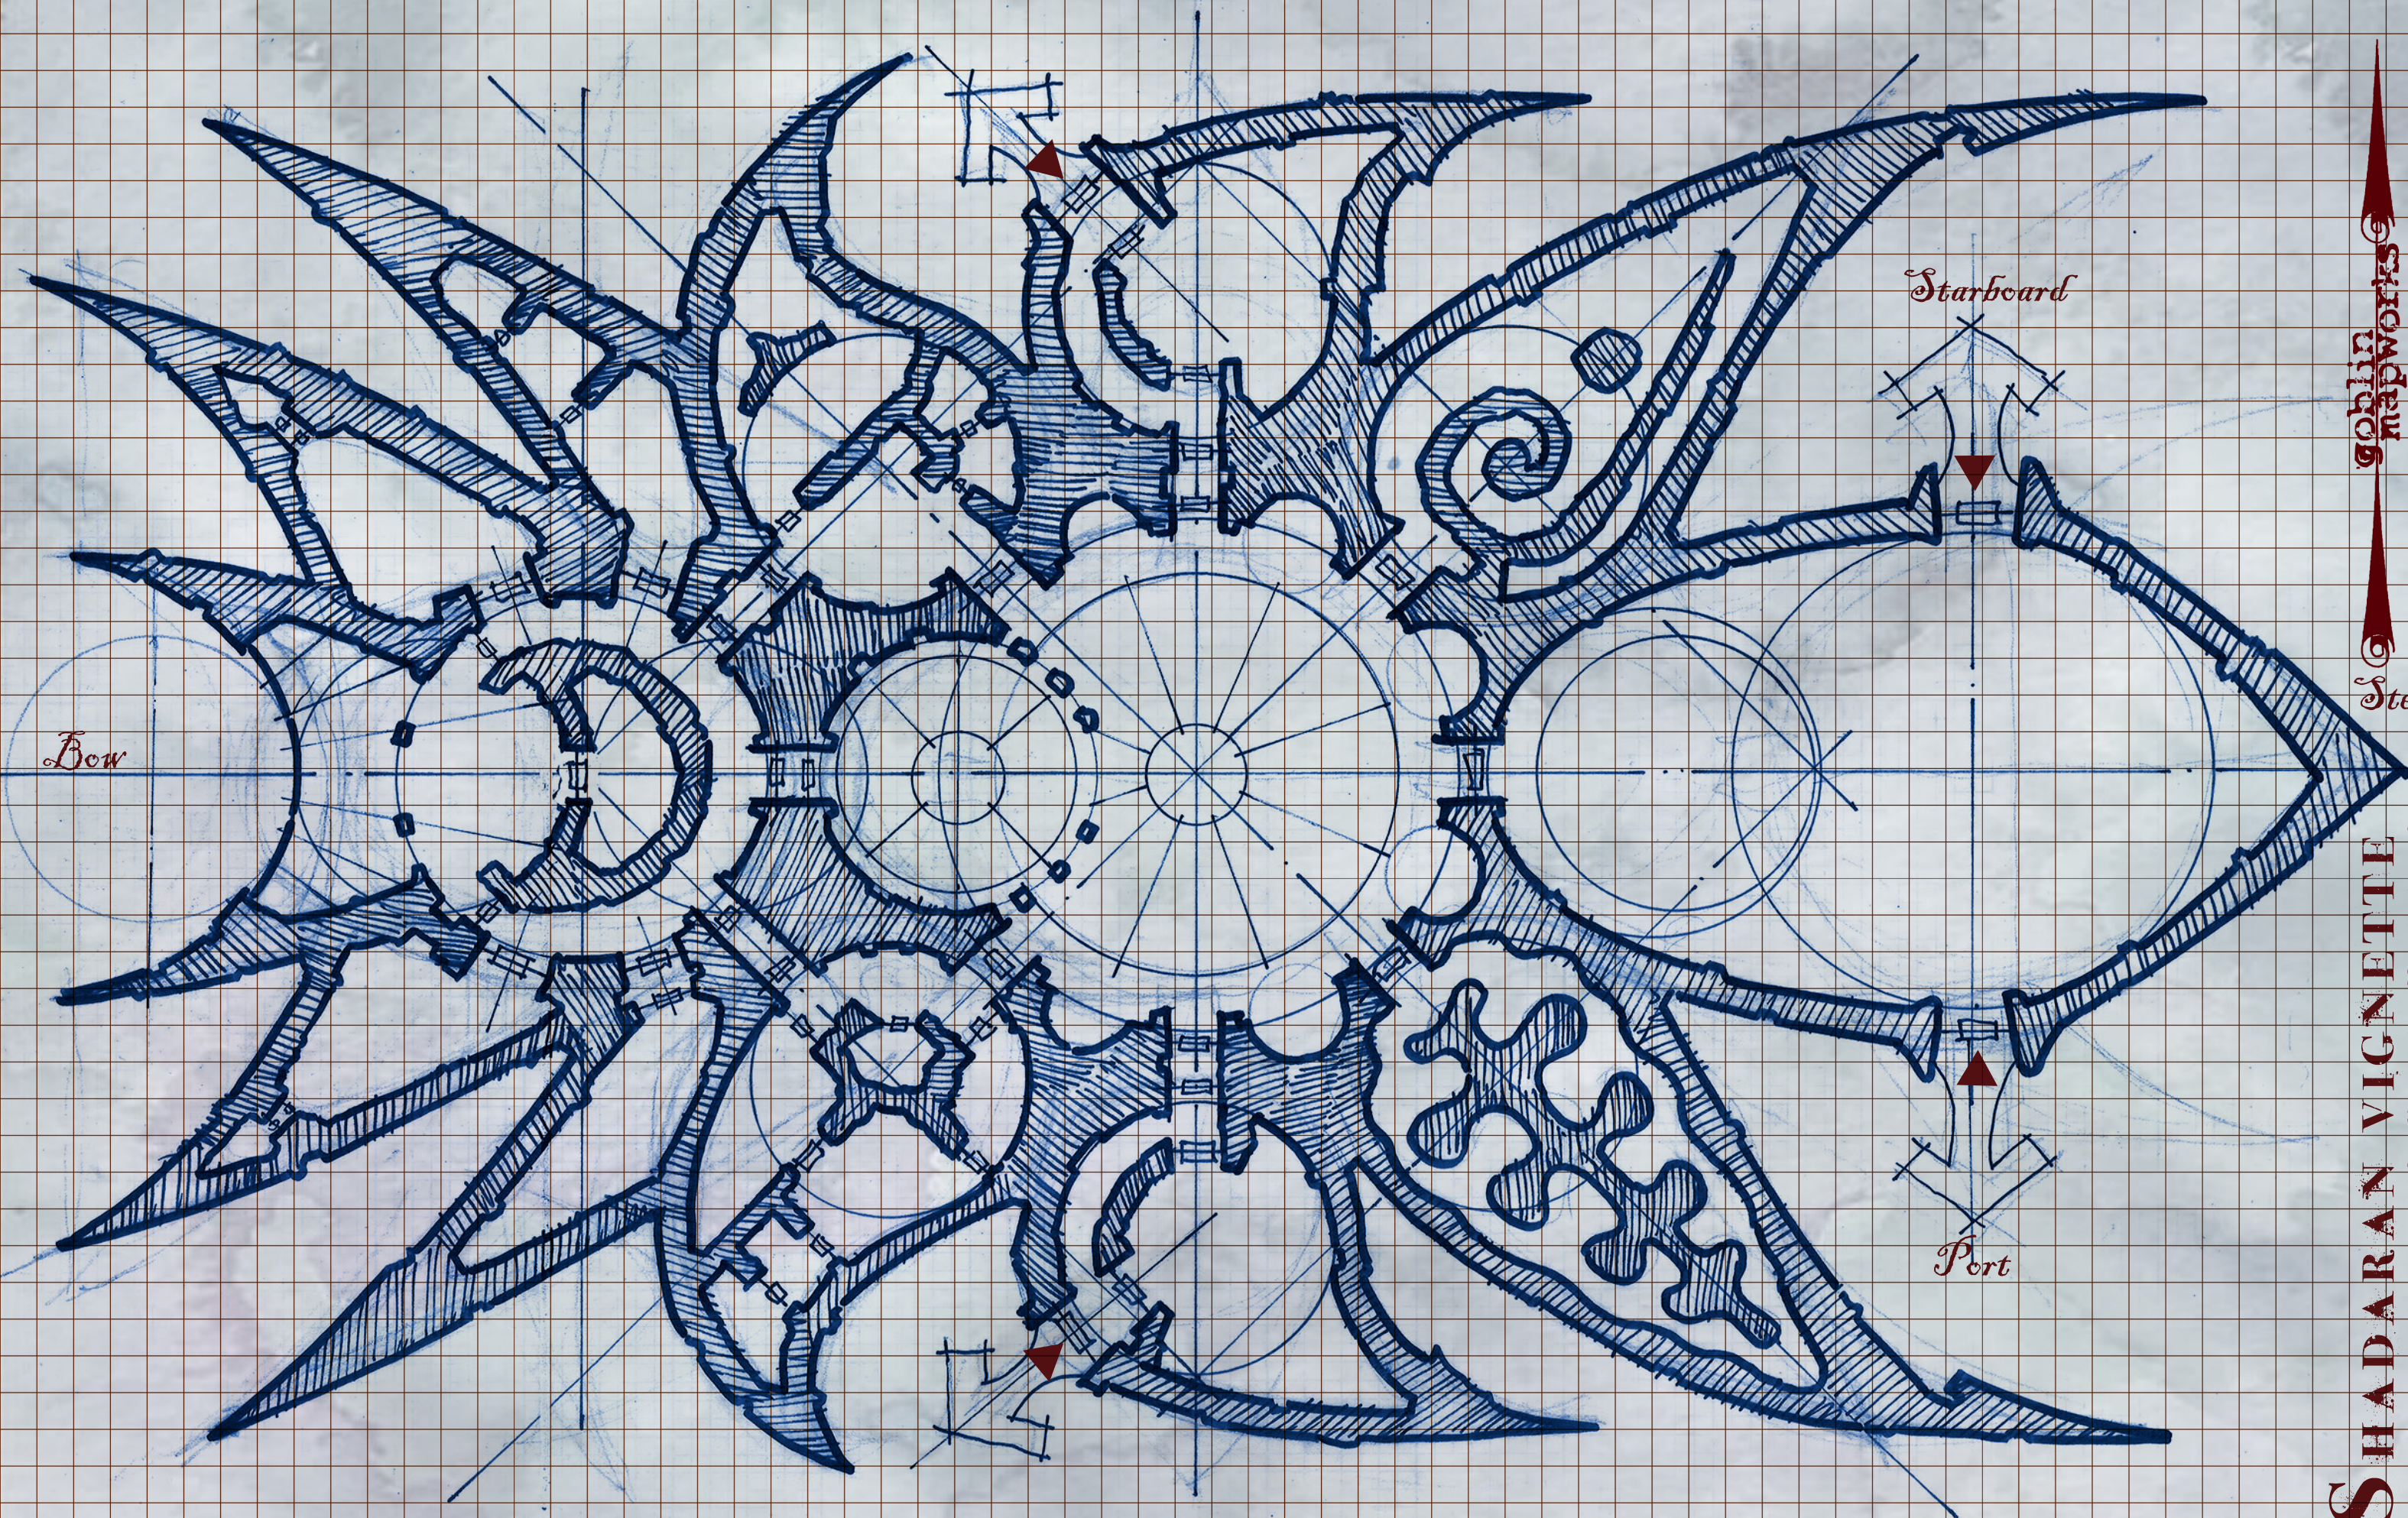

Each Plane Trooper is also a skilled Geomancer and capable of piloting the ship if needed.

Grid 10 foot
Crew of 16
supporting 120 marines
Or
a single Titan Queen and her personal guard

The Shadaran Vignette is designed for both general military duty as ground force support but also designed to carry and support one Titan Matricarch and its pilot, queen, and personal guard.
