

PORTO INVICTA HASH HOUSE HARRIERS

Run # 18 - 30th August 2025

Porto Invicta Hash Trash – August's Last Torture Trail 🐾🍷

Swing Low decided to close August with a “short & sweet” run from Metro Manuel Leão — the holy station of our kennel's birth. Short? Maybe. Sweet? Only if you enjoy climbing hills like a mountain goat on steroids.

Hare even dragged along his four-legged sidekick — luxury carriage and all — to show us that yes, the dog has a better ride than the pack.

Pain 🌈

Only 7km on paper, but who the hell cares about numbers when every bloody step is UPHILL? Mark Sex was crying louder than a tourist on the Porto tram: “TORTURE!” (and that was only 200m after the start).

Shaft Erector sniffed out a shady doggy shiggy trail right away — shortcut or just another evil trick?

The Trail of

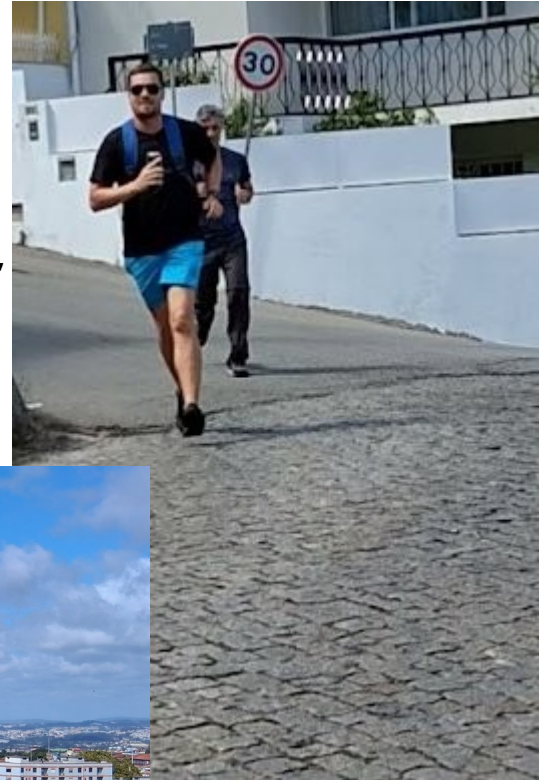

PORTO INVICTA HASH HOUSE HARRIERS

Snake Shagger, clearly inspired, did his best bowling-ball impersonation rolling downhill before the hare gleefully pointed us uphill again.

No Pitstops, No Mercy 🚫🍺

Swing Low announced proudly: NO PITSTOP! (yes, you heard that right... NO BEER STOP 🤪). Instead, he set 7 checks, including a sneaky closed one. Snake Shagger, Shaft Erector, and Mark Sex kept the “half-walk, half-swearing” pace while the hare’s false trails sent us all on scenic tours of cobbled alleys and dead ends.

Snake Shagger led the charge, only to get shafted by a perfectly evil false trail. Mark Sex eventually saved the day by stumbling onto the real ON ON, while Swing Low pretended he had a master plan all along (actually, he just wanted to meet us because he thought we were still lost).

The Monte da Virgem Massacre 🏔️

And then... the hill. The monte da Virgen laughed in our sweaty faces as Swing Low split the pack: R & W. (Rambo/Whimps? Long/Short? Who the hell knows?) Naturally, the pack chose the “R” trail. Naturally, it was uphill again.

But glory! At the top — salvation in the form of a café! 🍷 Mark Sex led us in for a fino, while Snake Shagger bitched about the missing pitstop. Meanwhile, Swing Low (and the dog in its chariot) smugly reached the finish early.

The Final Kick in the Balls 🦶

We thought the last shiggy trail meant downhill home. WRONG. Hare tossed in one more climb just to prove he truly hates us. Up, up, UP again before finally letting us crawl back to civilization. At least the city views were worth a few gasps of "ON ON."

Verdict:

PORTO INVICTA HASH HOUSE HARRIERS

- Distance: 7km (lies!)
- Checks: 7 (evil!)
- Pitstops: 0 (criminal!)
- Hills: All of them.

Hats off (and pants off) to Swing Low for another Porto torture session. Dog's still the smartest of the lot — rode the whole trail in style. 🐕🚲

Special Note

Porto Invicta Hash is Back!

After a tiny autumn siesta, the Porto Invicta Hash House Harriers will be back Saturday, 11 October to kick off the new season of madness.

From then on, we're back to our regular every-other-Saturday afternoon runs — trails, hills, beers, dogs in carriages, and all the usual torture disguised as "fun."

So dust off your running shoes, sharpen your thirst, and get ready to ON ON into Autumn with us.

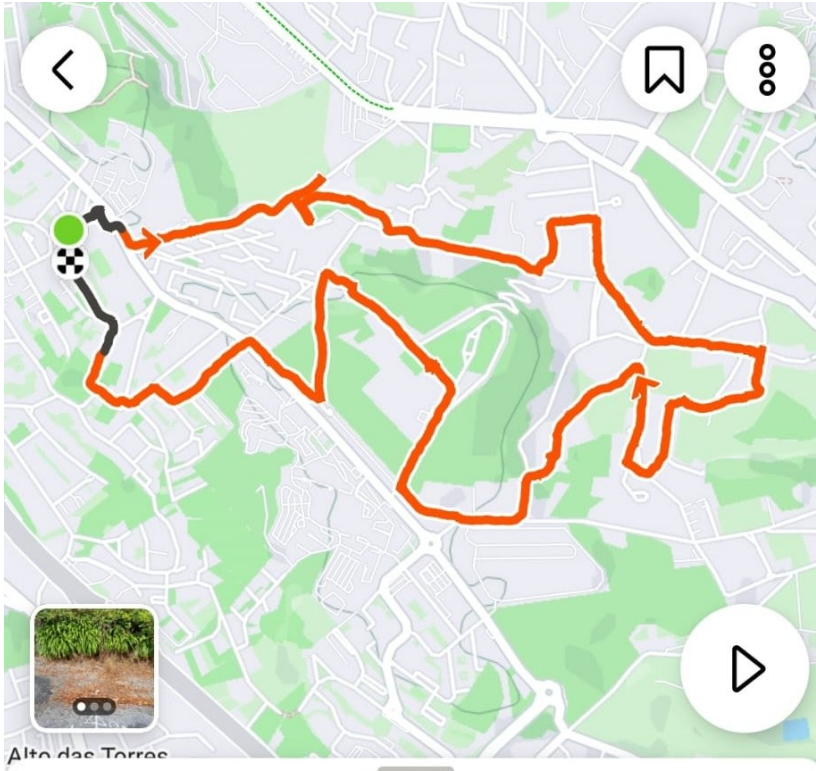

11 October. Mark it. Be there. Or we'll send the hare after you.
