Above: A brochure we did for a local limousine service. CartoonBob's Studio skills are NOT JUST illustration/cartooning. Mixed in with every project is years of experience as a New York City creative and art director. That means that you'll be not only getting the best artwork, but also great conceptual advice and strategic art direction as part of every project. Bearing this in mind, we do plenty of conventional non-cartoon graphic design work as well.

Versions of 'Max the Aviator' we did for a Swiss website header. Originally designed as an older flyer in a leather flying hat, he was requested to be redone as a younger blonde character with flowing hair and blue eyes. Extra wide banner with Alps in background stretches across entire website home page.

1. Cartoon set explaining/promoting 401k counselors

Phyllis thought the only thing more sure than the lemonade was paying wildly varying prices for the exact same size drink!

The doctor Phyllis hired tried hard to remain professional when she started talking about HIS greatest personal phobia... 401(K) plan details.

Phyllis hoped that the employees wouldn't retire before making their 401K choices.

Phyllis began to wonder if her hair stylist had her best interest in mind when she suggested trying the latest trend.

Phyllis was reminded that knowing when to ask for help can avoid unintended consequences... and disasters!
