*"I think maybe heaven is a sea of untranslatable jokes.
Only everyone is laughing."*

Matilde is a young Brazilian maid who hates cleaning.
She wants to be a comedian and dreams of coming up with the perfect joke. A joke that is so funny, it could kill...

*Thanks to the alchemical imagination of Sarah Ruhl,
the gifted author of "The Clean House," this strange grab bag of ideas and images, together with some more exotic ingredients, magically coheres to form one of the finest and funniest new plays you're likely to see...*
