Choosing Life

We received an email one day from a woman in central KY who was pregnant and in need of assistance for her preborn child. Not having a way to get to the Rose Garden for things for her child, she replied, "Thank you. I'm regretting not aborting and still have time to do so. Please pray I don't come to this. I'm not sure what else to do at this point. It seems my only option."

Born at 37 weeks

Note that was taped to the mural of Our Lady of Guadalupe, 2 days after Roe vs. Wade was overturned

Inquiring more about her situation, she related she was a single mother of 5 going thru a divorce, receiving no financial help from the father. Having a high risk pregnancy, she had to drastically reduce her hours at work and will have to be on bed rest in the coming weeks.

She said, "I don't want to end this little boys life, but by continuing thru with life for him I will be neglecting the needs of my others and possibly making us homeless."

We assured her that we would do everything we could to assist her and quickly got word out about her situation for friends to pray, and contacted some others we thought could lend a hand.

To our delight, so many friends and prayer warriors rallied for her, and through an organization named Let Them Live, mom was able to get all of the help needed to continue this pregnancy.

At 28 weeks, the week after we brought her the New Baby Welcome Basket, she was admitted in to the hospital for pre-term labor. We asked if she brought St. Gerard's Handkerchief with her that was in her Basket. She had not, but after 3 days with the doctors talking about surgically taking the baby, she had a friend bring the Handkerchief to the hospital. She slept with it on her stomach all night and by morning the contractions stopped! So they took her off of the medications and sent her home until giving birth at 37 weeks!! Thank you, St. Gerard!!

And thank you to all of God's servants who helped us see her through this very difficult situation!

"I hope to conform myself more to the Bridegroom every day."

Meet the newest Franciscan Daughter of Mary, Sr. Sara Stein from Waukesha WI. Her hobbies and interests include; reading, writing, music, art and making rosaries. I love the joy simplicity of the Franciscan way of life. I was attracted to the fourth vow to uphold the dignity of every human person and praying for priests, these were two of the things that attracted me to this community."

Speaking of the Blessed Sacrament, she recounts, "It is that beautiful union with God, the foretaste of Heaven, that moment when His Most Sacred Heart comes in contact with my own."

Please pray for Sara as she begins her new life as a Franciscan Daughter of Mary

In August, the sisters held a General Chapter, a special Gathering that Canon Law requires of every religious community. They are held every three years in our community.

The General Chapter provides an opportunity for the entire community to reflect on and discuss their Rule of Life, Mission and how they live out their religious consecration during a community retreat. At the end of the Chapter, elections are held to choose the Community Servant for the next three years.

Our General Chapter was held at the Shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe in La Crosse WI. During the day, the sisters spent time in prayer and reflection and in the on June 25th, the feast of the Immaculate Heart of Mary to Joseph, consecrating the Oratory in honor of the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus.

In consecrating a new altar, first class Relics of a saint are placed and sealed into it, the Bishop then lathers it with Chrism Oil, then kindles a small fire in a brazier on the altar which will serve to burn aromatic incense. Afterward, the altar is adorned with candles, dressed with altar linens and decorated with flowers.

Our new Altar contains relics of Sts. Urban and Maximus, 2 Second Century saints. We were blessed to have Bishop Emeritus Foys celebrate the Rite of Dedication and Consecration. To further add to the magnificent providence of God, the dedication and consecration took place the day after Roe V Wade was overturned! As dedicated Pro-Life sisters, we saw this as a sign of God's blessing! Only God could have arranged that!

We were extremely blessed to have our friend, Martyr Butler, build us a very beautiful wooden new altar at St. Benedict's Convent after he learned that the one we had was cracked and bowed.

Our new altar was consecrated by Bishop Iffert on June 29th, done in the same way as the altar at St. Joseph Convent, the only difference being that it contains relics of Sts. Silvanus and Urbana.

Rebuild My Church

The sisters have been going to the "Pro-Life Mass" in Cincinnati for several years. Located at Holy Name Church, it has been considered The "Pro-Life church" for the tristate, where pro-life prayer and activities have been held for almost 5 decades.

Situated a few blocks from the local Planned Parenthood, it stands almost as an icon, a "beacon of light" if you will, in our present darkness for persevering prayer and pro-life witness by the faithful in Cincinnati, Northern KY and Eastern Indiana for all these years. Each Saturday there is a pro-life Mass, Adoration, Rosary with procession to Planned Parenthood.

The church has been somewhat in a state of disrepair for some time. How often we would look around the church at its faded beauty and wish that someone would restore it. The proverbial final straw came one morning during Mass when we noticed that 2 ceiling tiles had fallen from the Sanctuary. Complaining about it in her heart to the Lord, Mother Seraphina felt the Lord say, "Well, I told your father Francis to rebuild My Church!" Then Mother recounts how she was also inspired with a course of action, which was to engage the community that was already there on Saturdays, many of whom have gifts that could be put to the service Our Lord and His Church, and to foster a community of faithful Pro-Life Parishioners. Rev. Ethan Moore, when he was appointed pastor for Holy Name and 2 other churches, asked the sisters to attend the weekly Holy Hour that he has for the U.C. students at St. Monica St. George church. The sisters were only too pleased to participate! This magnificently beautiful and historic church served as the Archdiocesan Cathedral for about 25 years while St. Peter in Chains was being built. The Sanctuary of the church has a towering brass Baldacchino and expansive ornate brass Reredos that has tarnished greatly over the years, making the brass unrecognizable.

One day this past summer the sisters were asked to join in a parish "cleaning" day, and saw this as an opportunity to see if the brass was easy to polish. To our delight and surprise, it wasn't too difficult! The difference was remarkable! We then set up a "Beautifying" day and enlisted the help of many Beautifiers (volunteers) to assist in polishing the Baldacchino and Reredos.

Restoring beauty to our churches has the power to move one's heart. Being an attribute of God, Beauty speaks to the heart of what is eternal. Quoting Archbishop Cordileone, who spoke in Cincinnati recently, "Sacred Beauty has the power to lift us out of this world of time and give us a glimpse of that which transcends time to what ultimately lasts, what our goal and final home is – ultimately the reality of God."

Archbishop Cordileone explained at a local fund-raiser, "The timeliness of a key to the path of renewal of both Church and society is to recapture the importance of Beauty, to recognize its universality and its power to evangelize and open hearts to the Truth."

Witnessing to Life

Will Boycotting pro-abortion companies cause them to go bankrupt? Probably not. Then why bother?

Just days after Roe V Wade was overturned, the Kroger Co. announced that it will reimburse their employees up to $4000 in travel expenses if they want an abortion. Shockingly, many other “Big Name” companies such as Wal-Mart, Amazon, Nike and Walt-Disney have adopted similar policies. Not only are these companies funding abortions, they are also cutting services to working Moms, thereby undoing all of the progress that was made from the Women’s Equal Rights movement from the 60’s and 70s.

Many outraged pro-lifers have decided to take a stand and boycott Kroger and many other stores. However, some of us may be wondering “What is my $500 grocery bill next to their 33.59 BILLION market cap!? Will refusing to shop here even make a difference at all?” The answer is both Yes and No.

NO, we will probably not be able to bankrupt Kroger, or any of these multi-million companies. Barring a miracle, (which isn’t out of the question,) even if we could get a lot of people to join us, they probably won’t notice very much. Finding an alternate grocery store when you have been “Krogering” forever is a real hassle and could involve many small changes to your daily life. Explaining to friends why you aren’t watching Netflix anymore may be a bummer. Added to all these inconveniences there is the fact that if we wanted to boycott every pro-abortion company we might as well move out to no-where-land, go off the grid and start our own farm! Seeing that this is highly impractical for most of us, you may begin to wonder what the point of this article is.

YES, it is true that we ARE going to have to pick our battles here. That being said, “I urge you therefore, brothers, by the mercies of God, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God, your spiritual worship. Do not conform yourselves to this age. . .” Rom. 12:1-2

As Christians, we are called to sacrifice. Why? Because “...in my flesh I am filling up what is lacking in the afflictions of Christ on behalf of his body, which is the church, . . .” Col. 1:24 What is St. Paul talking about? How could anything be lacking in the suffering of Christ? Well friends, if the Church is the Body of Christ and if I am a member of that body, then what is lacking is my participation in the suffering of Christ. When we unite our sufferings and inconveniences to the Sacrifice of Jesus on the Cross, Grace upon Grace will flow.

We need to look at this battle through spiritual eyes. In the eternal scheme of things, bankrupting a company isn’t really a huge victory. The True Victory is in saving souls and changing hearts! If the grace that I can unlock by giving up my favorite coffee could help save a soul from eternal death, what is the question? You see, when I unite my little sacrifices to His, the grace that gushed forth from His pierced Heart will flow into my heart, and through my heart to the hearts of souls in need. Plus, if we offer these sacrifices to Jesus through Mary, we can get even greater results because She will direct the graces to the souls who need it most.

Another bonus is that if we really decide to do what we can, our friends and family will inevitably notice. You will have to explain to the kids and others why we don’t shop at Walmart anymore, thereby sharing the message of the gift of life and human dignity.

I can’t tell you how many of our friends have been shocked when we explained why we won’t shop at certain stores anymore. They had no idea, and now they are going to do what they can to avoid these places as well. Again, the main goal isn’t to cause a business to “go under.” But united to Christ’s Sacrifice, we can help prevent some souls from “going under.” And the more friends we can get involved, the more that grace will be flowing.

Perhaps the most amazing part of this whole thing is that we may not meet the people we are praying for. Perhaps it won’t be our visible witness that will change their hearts. It will be this silent grace flowing from the Heart of Jesus. It will be our poor little hearts united to His, crying out “Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.” God can do a lot more with a few willing souls than the devil can do with a few million dollars. It is time that Christians stop trusting in the “power” of money and start really believing and trusting in the Infinite Power of GOD.

On page 6 of this newsletter is a list of companies that have chosen to offer travel reimbursements to employees who want an abortion. We obtained this information through the Northern Kentucky Right to Life, and through inspireinsight.com – a very useful investment tool that screens big companies based on biblical values.

Yes, we are going to have to pick our battles, but any little sacrifice you can pitch in will help.

By Their Fruits You Shall Know Them

We have come to understand that the more you trust in God, the more He blesses you. The Lord also loves to spoil the poor, I'm convinced of it!

Many of you know about the stories of things appearing where there was nothing, but our Lord continues to give in abundance to those who trust Him or have no one else.

In May this year, we received a call from a friend who owns a towing company. He was called out on a truck that was totaled and was now burdened with getting rid of the load that the semi was carrying—all in-date baby formula, just days before the recall that led to the formula shortage. And after sorting through it all, we found that none of this formula was part of the ones that were recalled. And this formula was the exact brand and type that the WIC office has been telling many of our neighbors to get, but they could not find it in the stores!!

Situations like this happen not infrequently at the Rose Garden. Very often someone will come with a specific need that we don't usually have on hand and it will show up just in time.

Like the day a neighbor asked for Gluten Free food— which we rarely ever have— and there were a few gluten free items in a prominent space on the shelf that weren't there earlier.

One of our neighbor's doctors told them to eat liver because her iron was low—just that morning we had been donated a whole case of liver—we had never been donated liver before!

Some one recently asked for Pizza on a day we didn't have any—seconds later we received a shipment of Pizza, and we were able to catch her before she left.

Another time, a neighbor came in who spoke French and a little bit of Spanish, he had a lump on his head and our clinic had just closed for the week. We weren't sure what to help him or even how to tell him anything where to go. As God would have it, one of the volunteers that day was a nurse, and another volunteer spoke French, so we were able to help him.

One neighbor asked for a car seat with a 5-point harness, and asked if she could pick it up tomorrow. We didn't realize that we had just run out of this type of Car seat, but a couple of hours later another one was donated.

On the day before the chapel at St. Joseph's convent was consecrated Father Jordan told us that we really should have four cross shaped candle holders that go on the walls of consecrated churches. Within an hour of going to the Mission, sister was going through donations in the warehouse— and there they were!

The list goes on. You see, God is still working miracles, still multiplying loaves and fish, still working in the lives of His people in ways big and small. He never stopped. He just needs people to trust Him!

After giving out frozen, fresh soup all day, at the end of the day, the freezer still had as much soup in it as when we started.

Having no bread one day, a neighbor asked for it specifically. Sister replied that we had no bread that day, but before she could finish the sentence, a volunteer rolled a cart in that was full of bread.

The Lord also spoils the sisters sometimes! Sr. Sara mentioned that the one tradition her family had for Thanksgiving was eating Cinnamon Apples. Thanksgiving morning, we were going through the Mission freezer and there it was—Cinnamon Apples!

In placing the veil on Sr. Sara's head during her entrance ceremony, Mother Seraphina had difficulty getting the veil to stay put. The sister's Chaplain, Bishop Foys commented that we needed stronger Velcro. Walking in to the Mission later that morning, there was industrial Velcro sitting on a table right near the entry door.

Tad Pacholczyk on ethics culminating with Q & A with Mother Seraphina.

In addition, we joined in the Rosary Procession to Planned Parenthood and visited the children's section of a local cemetery, cleaning their graves, placing roses and praying the Divine Mercy Chaplet.

Friends of the Rose Garden Mission

Nancy Jung, pictured at right, was honored at our annual “Partners in Hope for the Poor” dinner this year. Nancy has been a volunteer from the very beginning of the Mission. Though she is no longer physically able to volunteer, this has not deterred her from her constant support of our work. Even in her assisted living home she continues to pray for us and to spread the word about the Rose Garden, sending us new volunteers and gathering donations from fellow residents.

We were honored to have Roger Grien as our Keynote speaker this year. Saved from abortion and adopted, Roger became a very successful businessman and sports coach despite disability and other set-backs. He now operates “Magnified Giving”, a charitable agency that empowers children and teens in school to learn about investments while supporting charities in their local community. The Rose Garden has been selected as a beneficiary on several occasions. Roger’s presentation was an amazing witness to the power of Love, Life, Faith and Perseverance.

Also announced at our Dinner, The Mission has run out of room! Even though we are constantly giving things to those who need them and avoid storing many things away, all the shelves, the whole basement and every other conceivable space is FILLED with donations. God has truly blessed us abundantly through your generosity.

In light of this happy problem, The Friends of the Rose Garden Mission have embarked upon the endeavor to Expand the Mission! The addition will occupy the section of parking lot on the south side of the mission and will have two floors. The main floor will be used for our Pregnancy care services, providing a more private environment for pregnancy testing and counseling, as well as space for baby items, diapers and children’s clothing. The second floor will be used as a place to store additional and “overflow” items until they are given to moms in need. The foundation was laid in October and construction is continuing well. Thank you so much for letting God work through your generosity to us, which has resulted in both the “problem” and the solution!

As a note, please know that even though we have an such abundance of specific items, we are still in continual need of Diapers, wipes, baby equipment, children’s clothing, food, etc. Your donations are always appreciated and put to good use.
