

Wild Dog School Barks

Welcome to Wild Dog Investments first issue of School Barks. As many of you already know education and schooling is my passion. I absolutely loved my years of teaching in various countries around the world and am currently enjoying being the mums taxi for my children while still being as involved as possible with education through my business. My dream was to open my own school one day which is needed and I have many visions. At the moment that is on hold but I can still do everything I can to help all schools in Eswatini achieve their goal of being the best school. I am hoping to send out a newsletter regularly to you with product highlights and deals related directly to education. If you are looking for items specifically please let me know and I will try my best to source them. My favourite areas of education are Curriculum Development, class and school management.

Product Focus

WrightRight

WrightRight is a range of brightly-coloured high quality wooden educational toys that focus on developing handwriting skills and improving literacy and numeracy by enabling you to practice writing. The powerful combination of repetition and interest has created a range of products that are visually exciting and can be used in a number of novel and creative ways. Using this range of wooden handwriting trainers will result in children having fun while getting repeated opportunities for practice. The perfect combination of factors for effective learning.

Dala Products in Store and to Order

Almost every teacher can relate that Dala products are the perfect addition to any classroom. Their paint options are endless from Liquid Tempera, Poster paint to even Face paint. There is a paint option for every classroom or activity.

We have excitedly joined hands with a new supplier who supplies all the beautiful Dala products. You can get your pom poms, pipe cleaners, polystyrene balls, beads and glitter of all sorts with their new options available.

Dala even has beautiful gift type items which you could use as a school for rewards or competitions.

I look around my house and I absolutely love to see all the art that comes home. It is also always so lovely to see how proud and excited the children are to show off their artworks. Contact me for a quote on any of the Dala items you could be interested in.

Stages of cutting

worksheets

1. Draw neat borders on worksheets before printing so children can practice cutting on the lines. (you can increase amount of borders needing cutting as per childrens needs)
2. Once they have mastered that let children draw lines and cut on them.
3. Glueing in is also fun as we master glueing in straight and no dog tails.
4. The final stage is getting kids to now redraw beautiful borders around worksheets with rulers reinforcing even more skills.

Remember left handers should use left handed scissors

OT tips for in the classroom.

We all know that finding time and having Occupational Therapists in our schools is a pipeline dream. However there is so much we can do as teachers which will help our children on a daily basis.

BURN THE GUILLOTINE, THROW AWAY FILE 13 AND DIG OUT THE SCISSORS.

Time is always of an essence in a classroom so the easy solution is to cut the worksheets with the guillotine.

NO No no.

Children need to cut with scissors daily.

Benefits of using scissors daily in the classroom.

- * helps with hand eye co ordination,
- crossing midline,
- fine motor skills
- Enhances hand finger co ordination
- Increases strength in muscles in hands and fingers
- Assists with depth perception and sight
- Bilateral co ordination.

Lets make it happen!

Focus on Reading. Tippie Readers

At Wild Dog Investments we can source pretty much any readers for you for use in your school. This issue we look at TIPPIE readers Learning to read with Tippie is fun. Tippie is a big elephant who experiences modern day experiences while staying true to the child.

Tippie books available in English and Afrikaans. The sequential reading books focus on sound development, linking sounds and letters to building confidence with reading as the readers progress. The first books focus on short vowels, simple consonants, blends and sight words.

There are ten books in each level. Excellent books for introducing language to our little ones.

I used Tippie Afrikaans readers on my children to test them out and really did enjoy using them, My children did not get bored and enjoyed the short activities at the back as well.
