Offenders often target young people who:

- ☐ Lack confidence or self-esteem
- ☐ Are socially isolated
- ☐ Have difficult family situations
- ☒ All of the above Your answer Correct answer

Explanation The first step in the offender's grooming process is targeting a potential victim. Offenders look for victims who are likely to be vulnerable – young people who lack confidence or self-esteem; young people who are socially isolated or awkward; young people whose family life is difficult or in turmoil; young people who don't get the attention, supervision or affection they need.

About what percentage of sexual abuse is committed by juvenile offenders?

- ☐ 15%
- ☐ 25%
- ☒ 33% Your answer Correct answer
- ☐ 60%

Explanation Research indicates that about a third of all sexual abuse is committed by juvenile offenders.

It is sometimes appropriate for an employee or volunteer to ask a young person to keep a secret.

- ☐ True
- ☒ False Your answer Correct answer

Explanation Secrecy is one of the most common tools employed by offenders. For that reason, it is never appropriate for an employee or volunteer to ask a young person to keep a secret.

It is normal and appropriate for employees and volunteers to tickle or rough-house with young people.

- ☐ True
- ☒ False Your answer Correct answer

Explanation Offenders almost always try to desensitize the victim to touch. This often starts

If you become aware that a colleague has exposed a young person to pornography, you should:

- ☐ Tell the colleague you think that's a bad idea
- ☒ Report the incident at once Your answer Correct answer
- ☐ Keep an eye out for other questionable behavior
- ☐ All of the above

Explanation Your first response must be to report the incident. It's also critical to keep an eye out for other questionable behavior. Telling the colleague you think exposing a young person to pornography is a bad idea can put the colleague on notice that the behavior is unacceptable.

Research suggests that:

- ☐ One in four girls will be sexually exploited before her 18th birthday
- ☐ One in six boys will be sexually exploited before his 18th birthday
- ☐ 16% of children will experience physical abuse
- ☒ All of the above Your answer Correct answer

Explanation One in four girls, and one in six boys will be sexually exploited before their 18th birthday. Research shows that at least 16% of children will experience physical abuse.

You are required to report if:

- ☐ You have reason to believe a young person is being harmed
- ☐ You have reason to believe a young person is in danger of being harmed
- ☒ Both A and B Your answer Correct answer
- ☐ Reporting is left to your discretion

Explanation Keeping young people safe is the top priority of any employee or volunteer. If you have any reason to believe that a young person is being harmed or is in danger of being harmed, you must report immediately.

One of the dangers of online interaction is that young people don't always know who they're interacting with.

- ☒ True Your answer Correct answer
- ☐ False

Explanation Offenders who target victims online often create false identities. Because of the nature of online interactions, it's often impossible for young people to really know who they're dealing with online.

If you observe a possible warning sign of sexual abuse, you should:
