Love / Indifference

“For you to be an Essene | an Essene woman on the earth and work for the advent of the Common Good, renounce your personal point of view, your inclinations, your beliefs, your concepts in order to love as God loves, in the image of the sun, which radiates an ocean without distinction, without partiality or differentiation.

Divine love is one. It is giving without distinguishing the beautiful from the ugly, the good from the bad, the true from the false.

The beautiful and the ugly, the good and the bad, the true and the false are only complementary halves of the Ineffable, who stands beyond all.

Place God, the Ineffable, above all and above all, above everything that can be differentiated, named and perceived as a personal and separate existence.

Particular points of view, personal opinions, individual demands and claims are worth nothing before the universal point of view, which encompasses all and stands beyond.

In all things, undifferentiated love must prevail over personal, limited and differentiated sympathies and antipathies.

Between the soul and the body, you must privilege the soul. Between the soul and God, it is God who must be first.

God acts thus and He leaves men to manage their destiny through free will without intervening directly.

You must act likewise and never force a being to do what he does not want to do.

An Essene serves God above all; next, the soul; and for the body and material life, he leaves beings to apply the laws of God or not.

Of course, indifference must not become a detachment devoid of compassion and which would refuse to help a being who is in need, even in his material life.

Love is the highest, for it is the law of God and it is only after having crossed the 12 doors of the Holy City that you will know what you must and must not do in the name of the love of God.

Love is God. Love is what you are. Love is your homeland.

When you will be who you are, love and you will be one.

You will radiate God naturally and all that you undertake will be love, one with the eternal being: GOD.”
