

Psalms of Archangel Gabriel

57 Through the blue Ether of the sky, discover the sacred space of peace and unity.

1. The one you call “the Virgin” was a daughter of Gabriel. The blue mantle she wore on her shoulders was that of Gabriel. I will give this mantle to the Round of Archangels, which will become a virgin soil capable of giving birth to the Light on earth. Then, like the Virgin, you will see a new intelligence be born in your midst that will enter the world of men through the Essene Nation.
2. If you look at the earth, you see that it is peopled by many individuals, forces, creatures and influences. Everyone has to live in this immensity of differences, faces, opinions and orientations that go in every possible and imaginable direction. In the midst of all this, it is essential that man knows there is a place where everyone can meet and thereby know the same language, the same interest, the same form: it is the blue sky that surrounds the earth and shows him the way to the heights and to subtlety.
3. Through all the forms existing in the world of men, the earth shows you the way to union with the common higher consciousness.
4. If you learn to come together and unite in this higher state of being that the blue ether of the sky shows you, your differences will become your wealth and not your confusion and your loss.
5. Of course, the man who cannot read the living language of nature will say that he does not understand the other, that this other one is not like him, he thinks differently, he does not have the same values and this is not good. Between saying that and going to war against another form of existence there is a short step. Through this down-to-earth attitude, man closes in on himself. He does not cultivate an interest in the discovery of another form of existence and does not try to raise himself and unite in the place that can be called the “space of peace.”
6. The space of peace is a sacred space manifested by the blue veil that surrounds the earth: a place of unity and sharing. In that space there are neither differences, nor appearances, nor languages of confusion, nor delimited forms, nor boundaries. It is the place of union. The only interest that can exist there is the welcome in a space where everything is settled, where no one tries to be looked at, to differentiate himself, even in an accomplished work. Whatever is undertaken in this space, everything converges towards unity. The whole earth is bathed and carried by this space that is part of its higher being. The blue of the sky invites you to look for what brings you closer together and not what alienates you.

7. Man lives where he wants to live, it is his choice, his life. He can live in confusion or in the great peace unifying all the paths towards a common higher consciousness.
8. The divine world does not live in the bones, flesh or blood of man, but in a higher, more subtle world. And it is up to man to rise towards the divine world in order to meet it.
9. If man wants to live with the divine world, his life must be consecrated. It is through this consecration that he can meet the divine world where it is and this higher world can come down into the world of man to leave its imprint.
10. If a man carries an Angel consciously and his life is dedicated to this, the only function he has to perform is to open the earth to the Angel so that the latter may acquire an appearance, a life in the world of man in a powerful and right way.
11. In the past, these were oaths and commitments that, through the different religions, have opened paths. But today, it is the very essence of life that must feed the world of man and leave traces of the divine world through the lives of men.
12. If a man has committed to the Round of Archangels, no matter where he lives, under what conditions he lives, inside him, in his look, words, thoughts, feelings, nothing can stop him from being unified with the virtue of the Angel who connects him with the great veil of the blue sky. Man then becomes an Angel bearer, half-man, half-Angel, and he will finally have to orient himself to become an Angel down to the physical plane, that is, a true Essene who makes heaven live on earth. This is the path of the Round of Archangels.
13. Just because all these worlds in which you live are different in their interests and orientations does not mean they are far from you, for they like you can find yourselves in the same place of peace. This perspective makes the innate language appear revealing the great wisdom that fills all the worlds and unites them in the perfection of the divine world.
14. Do not differentiate yourself by looking at the other. Instead, try to find this place outside the world called the place of peace. It carries the blue veil and makes a perfect, harmonious earth possible.
