

Psalms of Archangel Gabriel

66 Be like the flowers, constantly grow towards the Light.

1. Be like a seed. Be growing beings, beings who blossom, who go towards a living and grand future. Think of all your activities as growth and beauty. Leave no room for death and for what stagnates. Engage everything you do towards the life that grows. Everything you carry inside you, everything you plan to accomplish, do it in the spirit of growth and development.
2. Do not do things because you are told or because you believe it is right and therefore an obligation, but fulfill yourselves through what you do.
3. Enter into the inspiration of the spirit of life that makes what is true grow and takes it towards greatness and immensity, to the doors of infinity. Such a growth waters the worlds and indicates the path to wonder to them.
4. Think of the flower that came out of its seed and the earth to offer its presence of beauty and fragrance to the world. It offers pleasure to men and shows them the path of growth, development and perfection. I am not talking about personal development, which remains limited, but really about a growth that grows in the immensity. Try to find and cultivate this attitude.
5. Be filled with life, strength, joy, lucidity and awareness.
6. Grow like a plant and you will notice that in your lives everything will go towards a beneficial change, towards a new inspiration, a desire, a continuity. Growth generates growth, blossoming and greatness.
7. Never stop growing and developing yourselves towards the greatest beauty and perfection. Be in this state of mind and you will see your works become pleasing to all the worlds: mineral, plant, animal, human, angelic, archangelic and divine. Everyone will appreciate your fragrance, your beauty, your delicateness and the awareness in your actions and thoughts, which will enable an ever greater and broader development.
8. Be beings who grow and increase towards the Light and life in all its forms, beautiful and pure.
