HOW YOU EARN

White-Label Client Communication

You own the client relationship. By default, you handle all communication and act as the bridge between the client and our design/print team.

However, if you need backup, we offer a "ghost employee" service. We can step in to handle technical communications, virtual meetings, or even physical project briefings acting as an employee under your company's name. Your clients will simply see us as your dedicated design and print department.
