

5 Tips to Keep Your Cat Healthy

Cats may not necessarily need the pur-fect 'Morning Skincare Routine' with carefully chosen products and scented candles, but like all living beings, they DO need to be well taken care of. So, when was the last time you brushed your cats teeth? Here are 5 tips to keep your cat healthy:

1. Choose a Cat-friendly Vet

Suppose you just had a baby. It is highly unlikely that you would hire a nanny that has zero experience and zero passion for children. As a Cat parent, the process of finding the right vet for your pet is no different. A cat-friendly vet may be your biggest ally when it comes to preserving the health of your feline friend.

2. Provide Fresh Water Daily

Water is life - not just for you but for your cat too! Find out how your cat likes to take their water - some prefer a bowl, others a tall glass and others, a cat fountain. Whatever the method, it is essential to provide your cat with fresh water on a daily basis.

3. Groom Your Cat Regularly

Regular brushing will get rid of any dead fur from its coat whilst nurturing a strong bond. Grooming on a regular basis will also allows you to notice any new lumps or bumps that may need immediate attention.

4. Keep your Cat's Teeth Clean

So, when was the last time you brushed your cat's teeth? Or at least took them to the vet for some dental care? Like humans, cats can develop tartar on their teeth, which can lead to gum disease and tooth decay. Aim to get your cat's teeth at least once a year.

5. Have Enough Litter Boxes

On top of scooping the litter box more than once a day, keeping an extra litter box around the house is a good practice. If you notice any changes in your cat's waste, please do get them checked as this may indicate a health issue.

At Moggie, we take the health and wellbeing of your car seriously and we want to ensure you are a fully equipped Cat parent. Subscribe to our mailing list to stay in the know.

We think it's a puuurrr-fect idea!