Picked up the kids this morning first thing I heard was "mom I'm never going back to dads again"

Apparently he wouldn't let the kids call me a 3rd time even though I hadn't seen them in 5 days.

So one of them said to him they would run away.

Then all 3 of them told me about how he scared them by yelling and swearing in response.

They said "He yelled like he did to you"

One of my biggest fears about accepting and leaving a toxic relationship is that my kids would bear the brunt I carried for so long
