Sean,

I want you to know I love you, and I always will. If you think about it, you and me, we are the most consistent and longest relationship we've both had. We have achieved and endured a great deal as individuals and together. I will never deny that we were both in love. We were also young and after awhile maybe too focused on becoming everything our parents weren't. Doing what was "normal", going thru the motions, settling. I love you. I always will. I know that you love me and always will too. I don't want to argue anymore. We both and our children deserve better.

Love,

Christine
