A Story of Culinary Art and Heritage of Craft

Vietnam proudly boasts a rich tapestry of culinary and craft traditions. From the globally acclaimed Phở to the beloved Bánh Mi, Vietnamese cuisine holds a special place in the hearts of food enthusiasts worldwide. Yet, beyond its culinary treasures, Vietnam harbors a hidden gem: its remarkable tradition of pottery craftsmanship.

A Chef, His Wife and a Shared Dream

Founder of Annamis, Chef Matt, had the privilege of working in some of Europe's most esteemed restaurants. Learning from world's best chefs, he gained a keen understanding of the finer aspects of dining. The experience is not only about masterfully prepared ingredients; it's a journey of ambiance, service, and presentation – including the subtle but significant role of tableware. When introduced to the art of Vietnamese handmade ceramics by his wife Phương, he knew he had to share it with the world.

Affordable and Exceptional Handmade Quality

Annamis captures Vietnam's essence and history in handcrafted tableware. We closely collaborate with local artisans, overcoming language and cultural barriers to showcase their remarkable talent. Each piece is a hand-painted, double-fired work of art, designed for resilience. At Annamis, we are passionate about sharing Vietnam's rich culture and fine craftsmanship, enhancing dining experiences with pieces that tell a story of tradition and elegance.

Did you know?

The craft villages in Vietnam, from which Annamis sources its collections, have been producing ceramics with the highest quality, locally sourced clay for over 1,000 years.

Vietnam's unique white clay is ideal for the iconic blue and white glazes that adorn many of our pieces.

Several artisanal villages are home to more than 1,200 kilns, some of which have been operational since the 11th century. Nearly all residents of these villages are involved in the meticulous processes of clay refining, pottery, and ceramic painting.

The villages where Annamis ceramics are made are renowned for artists displaying their expertise. They offer great opportunities to explore the craft and even try pottery yourself!
